Labor Federation Reports Healthiest Business Gain

SAY WORKERS FAIL TO GET FAIR SHARE

Dividend Payments Show
Big Increase; Steel Mills
Showing Profits

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The "healthiest" business upswing since 1933 was reported today by the American Federation of Labor, but it charged that workers were not getting their share of jobs and wage increases.

"Prospective gains in business must be shared with workers," the Federation said in its monthly survey. "If we are to have a balanced and permanent recovery."

"The present business upswing is the healthiest thus far; it is the first not due to government spending or currency action; the first which seems due chiefly to inherent economic strength."

Dividends increased

"Dividend payments in August exceeded last year by $11,000,000, or 4 per cent; the steel industry is out of the red for the first time since 1930. With these signs of increased industrial earnings, much depends on the workers making a drive now for higher incomes."

Surveying workers' incomes during the so-called recovery period, the labor organization found that wage earners in four industries—mining, manufacturing, building construction and transportation by steam railroads and water—lost 59 per cent of their income from 1929 to 1932.

Incomes of highly paid management officials in these same industries during that period showed a 38 per cent drop. In 1934, when wage earners received 52 per cent of 1929 income, the property holders' income was 61 per cent.

Workers Lose Income

Declaring the loss of income to workers is "a matter of the greatest national concern," the survey added "even in 1919, their share was too small for industrial health; today it is smaller yet."

"If industry is to increase its market for goods and its opportunities for production and progress, if the American nation is to build up its living standards, the share of these workers must increase."

For these groups have the greatest need for industrial products—food, clothes, homes, radios, automobiles. Give them buying power and their buying will lift industry to higher levels than any yet reached."

The federation said 20,000,000 wage and salaried workers in trade and service industries lost $6.5 per cent of their income from 1929 to 1933, retaining only 5 per cent from 1933 to 1934. In 1934, their income was still below 1929 by 32

FRUIT EXCHANGE REPORTS 948 CARS OF VALENCIAS SHIPPED BY AFFILIATES DURING MONTH

A TOTAL of 948 carloads of Valencia oranges were shipped during August by the associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit Exchange, according to a statement issued today by the exchange from its headquarters in Orange.

The statement follows:

"Shipments of the Valencia variety for the month of August 1935 through the associations affiliated with the Orange County Fruit Exchange amounted to 948 carloads, 61 cars of which were sold through the Los Angeles distributing plant and 887 cars were moved to export and domestic markets. This makes a total of 4213 cars of Valencia moved to September 1st.

"The estimate of this variety remaining to go as of September 1 (including all Orange County Fruit Exchange associations) is 3513 cars of tree crop.

"Lemon shipments for the month of August amounted to 87 cars which makes the total shipments to date of this variety 604 carloads. The market on California lemons during the last 60 days has been very satisfactory due to a very large extent, to the extreme temperatures that have prevailed throughout most of the country during that period.

"Prices at the present time are low, however on medium sizes and better grades prices are still very satisfactory. The amount of lemons in storage in the different exchange houses in the state on September 1st was 13 per cent below last year. It is, however, 18 per cent greater than the average storage for the last five years on that date.

Offers To Avert War Scheduled

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Ethiopia's delegation at Geneva will be instructed to offer at least four concessions to Italy in an effort to avert war, it was reported here today. Officials would not confirm the reports.

The new instructions were formulated, it was said, by Emperor Haile Selassie's advisers who worked almost unceasingly over the week end.

According to the reports, the concessions would include:

An offer of a section of Ogaden, bordering on Italian Somaliland, to Italy.

Agreement to have the League of Nations name advisers to the Ethiopian government, with the proviso that the emperor retains power to veto the appointments if they are unsatisfactory to him.

Permit Italy to construct a road from the Italian province of Eritrea south to Gondar, Ethiopia, just north of Lake Tsana, headwaters of the Blue Nile on which Great Britain is dependent for irrigation of the Egyptian Sudan.

The fourth concession is not known.

What position the advisers assume is not known. But it is recalled that the emperor hitherto has been irrevocably opposed to anything approaching a mandate or a protectorate. The emperor has been represented as fearing civil war if he permits anything that might impair Ethiopia's integrity or sovereignty.

LEAGUE SEEKING PEACE

GENEVA, Sept. 9.—(UP)—A five-nation committee of the League council seeking peaceful solution of the Italian-Ethiopian dispute met last today and afternoon later appointed a subcommittee to study the claims of the disputing countries.

The subcommittee was composed of delegates of the five powers represented on the committee, namely, Great Britain, France, Poland, Turkey and Spain. It will hold its first meeting at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

At today's meeting of the main committee, Salvatore Madaraga, the Spanish member, was understood to have proposed that the subcommittee study only Italy's accusations against Ethiopia. But Josef Beck, of Poland, insisted Ethiopia's allegations also be considered.

HUEY LONG FIGHTING DEATH TODAY

DEATH CLAIMS E. L. DOHENY, OIL MAGNATE

(Copyright 1935 by United Press)
BEVERLY HILLS, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Edward Laurence Doheny, 79, $100,000,000 oil emperor, lay dead here today.

The son of an Irish immigrant whose pick and shovel first tapped the great Pacific coast oil fields, died quietly yesterday in the presence of members of his family at his Beverly Hills home.

Doheny had been failing in health since 1929, when his son, Edward L. Doheny Jr., was slain by a crazed secretary.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday in St. Vincent's cathedral, endowed by Doheny. His old friend, Bishop Francis C. Kelley of Oklahoma City, will assist Bishop John J. Cantwell of Los Angeles in the requiem high mass.

Born in a Fond Du Lac, Wis., farmhouse in 1856, western gold lured Doheny soon after he was graduated from high school. He was a failure as a prospector, until he turned his attention to "black gold" on the Pacific slope. Here his touch became enchanted, and he spouted as if by magic where Doheny drills probed.

He started his first well with a pick and shovel on the outskirts of Los Angeles, later persuading a banker to lend him money for drilling equipment. Within four years he had brought in 69 producing wells. Thereafter the Doheny fortune multiplied fabulously.

The magnate reached the height of his career in 1924, when the Teapot Dome "oil scandal" staggered the Harding administration and brought indictments against Doheny and Albert V. Fall, secretary of the interior.

Acquitted in Scandal

Doheny was tried and acquitted in November, 1926, of a charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States in connection with the Elk Hills naval petroleum leases. Fall was convicted of conspiracy and accepting $100,000 from the magnate, with Doheny testifying in his behalf at Washington in October, 1929.

Shortly before Doheny's death his agents sought to evict Fall

G.O.P. ATTACKS TERMS LETTERS "PROPAGANDA"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—President Roosevelt's "breathing spell" letter merely "reiterates the fundamental fallacy of the new reform," the Republican National committee charged in a statement today.

It said the interchange of letters between the President and Roy W. Howard "has accomplished nothing" and insisted that:

"The business, financial and industrial interests of this country do not want merely a 'breathing spell' from such a regime. They want a complete rest cure."

Charging that the "question-and-answer stunt" had changed one's opinion of the Roosevelt administration, the Republican blast said it "probably was not expected to do so."

"More likely it was designed to afford Mr. Howard a freshly laundered alibi for keeping his newspaper chain narrowly partisan in their support of the President, and furnish them an excuse in advance for advocating his renomination and election," the statement continued.

"It was a good piece of partisan propaganda, even though perfectly transparent. The collaboration was perfect. The President did not dare run the risk of having such a prominent publisher publicly ask him any embarrassing questions to which he was expected to make a public reply."

Avoids Many Problems

"For that reason, Mr. Howard avoided bringing up questions about inflation, return to a sound currency, balancing the budget, getting the government out of private business, and, particularly about the President's determination to make the United States constitution conform to his socialistic program rather than abandon that program because it runs contrary to the United States constitution."

"In other words, the political significance of Mr. Howard's letter is measured not by what it asked, but by what it conspicuously failed to ask."

The Republican criticism of the letters charged that "Ghost Writer Number One" did a good job of editing them, and that there was nothing in them "to which the confidence of men of affairs can make fast."

81ST STATE FAIR CLOSES TONIGHT

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 9.—(UP)—A program devoted almost entirely to entertainment, including an outstanding horse racing card, was to bring the 81st California State Fair to a close today.

The day was designated State Employees' Day and more than 3000 members of the California State Employees' association from 44 chapters throughout the state participated in various activities at the exposition grounds. Governor Frank P. Merriam was the guest of honor at the association banquet.

Gates of the exposition were to swing shut following the horse show tonight, bringing to an end 10 days of various activities and displays of the state's diversified crops and valuable livestock.

LATE FLASHES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The navy department's 1936 building program got under way today with announcement by Secretary Claude A. Swanson that contracts had been awarded for construction of 23 or 24 warships.

WEST SIDE STADIUM, FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Sweeping aside two British Wightman cup players, Helen Jacobs of California and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan of Boston, today gained the final round of the national women's tennis singles championship.

MEXICALI, Mex., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Gambling will not return to Baja, California, Gen. Gildardo Magana, the new governor, declared today.

DELANO, Cal., Sept. 9.—(UP)—A Filipino fruit worker, crazed over a fancied insult from a Mexican companion, shot and killed three men, stabbed three others and injured a bystander before he himself was killed by a Delano policeman, officers reported today.

ARLEN ASKED TO DOUBLE ALLOWANCE

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—(UP)—A broken romance 12 years old haunted Richard Arlen, film actor, in domestic courts here today.

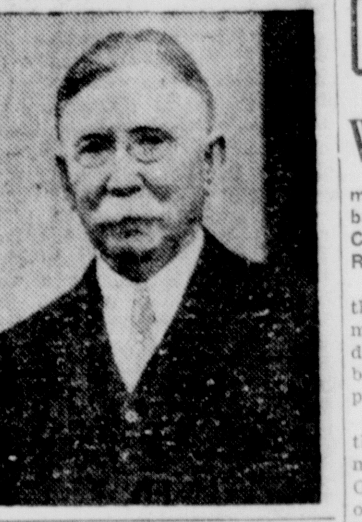

Mrs. Ruth Austin Mattimore, his first wife, had on file a petition asking courts to double a weekly allowance of $30 for the support of their daughter, Rose Marie, 14 years old.

Arlen is the husband of Jobyna Ralston, screen actress.

Previously the facts of his first marriage and that he had a "teen-aged daughter were not generally known. The actor's real name is Van Mattimore.

WOUNDED

Seriously wounded when he was shot in the abdomen while at the Louisiana State capitol building last night, Sen. Huey P. Long, below, is reported recovering today.

GRAPHIC STORY OF DEATH TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

By CHARLES E. FRAMPTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Standing in the door of Gov. O. K. Allen's office, less than 10 feet away, I witnessed the attempt on Senator Long's life last night and saw the man who shot him riddled a moment later by more than half a dozen of Senator Long's guards.

Not more than five minutes earlier I had talked with Long on the floor of the house of representatives where he was watching his legislators pass to second reading the 39 administration-backed bills that had been approved Sunday morning by his house ways and means committee.

I walked outside the governor's office, through the ante-room and opened the main, double doors leading from the ante-room to the governor's office into the ornate marble corridor connecting the house and senate chambers which are at opposite ends of the state's magnificent 34-story capitol building.

Just as my hand clutched the knob of the door, I heard a muffled shot. Jerking the door open, I saw Senator Long walking away, his hand to his side. Almost at my feet I saw Murphy Roden, young war veteran and member of the state highway police assigned to guard duty with Senator Long, struggling with a white-clad man. A shot was fired. I couldn't tell which of the struggling men fired. Roden backed away, firing.

The man with whom he had been struggling pitched forward on his face, his right arm crooked and his head pillowed in the crook of his arm. He gave a strangled cry. Then half a dozen men, officers in plain clothes, began firing at him. The gun with which he had shot Senator Long slipped from his hand. His body trembled and stiffened as bullet after bullet thudded into it.

$100,000,000 SET ASIDE FOR COTTON LOANS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The federal government will not find it necessary to lend money on more than a million bales of the present cotton crop, Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the RFC, said today.

Jones' statement was made after the agricultural department estimated 1935 American cotton production would total 11,489,000 bales on the basis of Sept. 1 prospects.

Shortly after Jones' statement the Reconstruction Finance Corp. made available to the Commodity Credit Corp. $100,000,000 for loans on this year's cotton crop.

Comparison Made

Jones said he based his loan estimate on the government forecast and on figures showing a world carryover of American cotton of only 9,000,000 bales, compared with 13,250,000 bales three years ago.

He said that the 12-cent loan is now being made on nearly 5,000,000 bales, a total of $250,000,000 in loans. He also made public figures showing that total authorization of RFC money has crossed the ten billion dollar mark.

Between February 2, 1932 and August 31, 1935, total authorization and commitments were $10,080,523,442.

Included in this sum were disbursements of $1,299,983,488 for relief; $731,472,424 to other governmental agencies and other billions of dollars for various lending activities. A total of $885,411,500 has been cancelled and $75,692,881 remains available to borrowers.

Relief Expenditures

Of the total disbursements, $5,622,153,994 was expended for activities other than advances to agencies and for relief, and of this sum $2,384,555,720 or approximately 53 per cent has been paid.

The department of agriculture's forecast of the 1935 cotton crop at 11,489,000 bales was 399,000 bales below the August 1 estimate and considerably below estimates prepared by private crop observers.

At present market values, the 1935 crop was valued at approximately $631,895,900, compared with a 1934 crop of $731,000,000 ables valued.

POLICE AIRPLANE QUIZ DEADLOCKED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Police investigation of the disappearance in the flight July 30 of a $100,000 super-pursuit plane built for the U. S. army was at a standstill today.

The ship, of new and radical design and said to be capable of 325 miles per hour, has been unreported since Lieut. Arthur H. Sker of Denver, Colo., took off on a test flight.

"From the evidence, all we can assume is that the plane crashed somewhere along the coast," said Lieut. W. L. Robertson of the police.

No further trace of a mysterious speed-boat seen following a high speed plane near Pointe Vicente the afternoon of the flyers disappearance was reported by police.

Assailant Shot Down By Guards

BULLETIN
BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Senator Huey P. Long was given another blood transfusion at 12:30 p. m. (EST) today it was reported at Our Lady of the Lake Sanitarium.

(Copyright, 1935, by United Press)

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Gravely wounded by a political assassin, Huey P. Long, senator, dictator, kingfish of Louisiana, fought against death today, while the future of his southern "empire" hung in balance.

His condition was reported as "satisfactory" in a bulletin issued at Our Lady of the Lake sanitarium at 12:25 p. m. (CST).

The best physicians in the state, including Dr. Urban Maes, world famous surgeon, hastened here by plane and automobile. In New Orleans 200 hastily mobilized National Guard prepared to move to Baton Rouge against any attempt of Long's political enemies to seize the state government.

Physicians were ready to give the rapidly weakening senator a second blood transfusion. He already had undergone one transfusion and an emergency operation.

Colon Punctured

His friends understood his wound was critical. The bullet entered his right side and ranged downward through the abdomen, puncturing the colon twice.

The would-be assassin, Dr. Carl A. Weiss, 30, Baton Rouge surgeon, was killed an instant after he fired on Long in the main corridor of the state capitol last night. Fifteen shots from guns of Long's bodyguard of ten state policemen riddled Weiss' body.

Weiss' motive apparently was political. Long was planning to oust his father-in-law, Judge B. H. Pavy of Opelousas, from office by a legislative maneuver as he had ousted many others of his opponents.

Gov. O. K. Allen, and other sub-leaders of the Long organization kept close watch on a seething political situation they appeared to fear might explode. Anti-Long leaders were silent and there was no word from the militant Square Deal association which has advocated the overthrow of the Long dictatorship by force. But with the mobilization of troops, Long's subordinates appeared to be taking all precautions.

A bulletin from the hospital gave a detailed medical exposition of Long's wound. It read:

"Senator Long was shot through the right upper quadrant of the abdomen, the bullet going through the body. There were two penetrations of the transverse colon and one of the sigmoid colon."

BULLET THAT CRASHED THROUGH LONG'S BODY BOUND TO AFFECT COURSE OF NATIONAL POLITICS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The bullet which ripped through Senator Huey P. Long's body will affect the course of national politics next year regardless of the outcome of the Senator's fight for life.

Without the amazing red-headed hero who swept to prominence as "The Kingfish," the political machine by which he controlled and manipulated the Louisiana state government is almost certain to collapse.

With it would vanish all likelihood that there will arise in the south and southwest an effective radical political hegemony dedicated to "share-the-wealth" and the defeat of the Roosevelt administration.

Appealing Pose

But if the senator survives his wound, he will be before the public again in a somewhat appealing pose. In the opinion of most political observers the senator's prestige had been somewhat tarnished in recent months, first by the refusal of the senate to offer any support in his attempt to compel the resignation of Postmaster General James A. Farley.

Long then weakened and perhaps destroyed his influence with a large body of organized labor on the night congress adjourned when he filibustered for hours against a final appropriation bill which would have provided funds for new deal social security legislation. The bill carried also the tax plan with which a pension system for railroad workers was to be established.

He explained that he filibustered in an effort to obtain a 12-cent-a-pound cotton loan for the new crop and a 30-cent-a-bushel guarantee on wheat.

With the issue of "share-the-wealth" and of treasury bounties for wheat and cotton, Long was headed for the bayous toward the gross roots but whether as a presidential candidate or a one-man plague among new deal congressional leaders probably was not known even to Long himself.

He said the other day in New York that he would be a presidential candidate if the Democrats renominated Mr. Roosevelt and the Republicans put up former President Hoover.

He was in full stride toward his objective to hamstring the Roosevelt administration when a bullet stopped him last night. That blast of gunfire marked the second spectacular appearance of the political assassin in this country since the 1932 election.

A crazy little man who seemed not able to explain to himself just why he drew his pistol fired on President-elect Roosevelt in Miami, Fla., three years ago. Mr. Roosevelt was unmarked but Mayor Anton Cermak, of Chicago, was killed.

held at 10 a. m. tomorrow, the coroner's office announced.

Gomez was born in Mexico but had been a resident here for the past 15 years.

Five Arrested

One man was injured and five persons were arrested as the result of an accident in Anaheim last night.

Edward Martens, of 535 South Los Angeles street, Anaheim, reported that he was standing on the running board of his parked car, attempting to repair the motor, in the 800 block on West Center street, when a car driven by Ralph Solis, struck his machine from the rear. Martens was cut and bruised about the head, he reported.

Anaheim police arrested Solis and his companions and kept them in the Anaheim city jail on drunk charges last night. They were John Murrillo, Bernard Ruiz, Raul Trujillo, and Dolores Moreno. The Mexicans also claimed to be injured and were taken to the county hospital where an examination proved them shaken up but not injured.

Three persons were injured on the Coast highway near the Bolsa Chica gun club at 10:15 o'clock last night, when a car driven by Elliott B. Mosbacher, 44, of 6330 Alkins street, Encinitas, collided with a machine operated by William Frederick Wade, 27, of 151 North Pine street, Orange.

Mrs. Jeannie Mosbacher, 44, Jack Mosbacher, 17 and Mrs. E. B. Epworth, 70, a passenger in the Mosbacher machine were all reported injured. They were not brought to hospitals here, however.

State police officers, called to the scene of the crash via radio, arrested Wade and lodged him in the county hospital, charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor. Due to the holiday today, he will not be given a court hearing before tomorrow.

Abraham Suniga, 42, of 924 Logan street, Santa Ana, was reported cut and bruised when the car he was driving collided with a machine operated by Joseph R. Caldwell, 40, 510 Buena Vista avenue, Redlands, at 2:45 p. m. yesterday. The accident occurred at the intersection of Tustin avenue and Fairhaven avenue.

Ned Combs, 20, 224 Ninth street, Long Beach, was injured about the head when his motorcycle skidded and crashed into another motorcycle ridden by Fred Loretz, 19, of 120 Sixth street, Long Beach, at 2:30 p. m. yesterday on Bolsa avenue, two and a half miles west of the Santa Ana river. The two youths were riding side by side when the Combs machine struck a low place in the road causing it to skid.

Bert Motois, a transient from San Antonio, Tex., was knocked down and cut and bruised by an automobile driven by Raymon Salgado, of 1212 Lincoln street, Santa Ana, at 7:50 p. m. Saturday at North Main street and Santa Clara avenue. Police reported he was not badly hurt.

Bobby Stevens, 14, Register paper carrier, suffered an injured leg Saturday afternoon when he was knocked from his bicycle by an automobile reported driven by Henry A. Rosemond, of 1426 West Fifth street. The accident occurred at the intersection of Seventeenth and Flower streets. The boy was taken home.

Rudy Mendez, of Stanton, was treated at the Orange county hospital last night for injuries to his head and hands received in an automobile accident near Stanton, the hospital reported. He was not badly hurt.

Ralph Sanchez, 6, suffered a broken leg when he was run down by an automobile in Fullerton this morning at 7 o'clock. He was taken to the Orange County hospital and this afternoon his condition was reported as satisfactory. The hospital did not have details of the accident. The boy's right leg was broken below the knee. He is the son of Mrs. Frances Sanchez.

Manuel Piacentia, Delhi, was taken to the Orange county hospital at 2 a. m. today, injured about the head. The car he was driving crashed into a tree, it was reported.

Today's report, as of Sept. 1, revealed considerable crop losses in taxes where the yield was marked down 384,000 bales and in Oklahoma where a drop of 59,000 bales was shown.

It was believed the department's report should result in a modest bullish reaction on cotton markets.

The present estimated crop is about 2,500,000 bales below average production for 1928-29 and some $200,000,000 below the average for those years in value.

Condition of the crop Sept. 1 was estimated at 64.5 per cent of normal as compared with 73.6 per cent on Aug. 1.

Funeral of Mr. and Mrs. Holmes Is Set For 2:30 Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Holmes, of Wilmington, residents of Santa Ana about 16 years ago, who were killed in an automobile accident at Wilmington last Thursday, will be laid at rest in Sunnyside cemetery at Long Beach tomorrow.

Funeral services are set for 2:30 p. m. in the Wilmington Presbyterian church, corner of L and Marine streets. The Rev. Charles Swift will officiate at the service.

from the ranch near Three Rivers, N. M., where he had lived since his release from prison.

Fall, however, insisted that Doheny was not responsible for the action.

A tip from A. A. Robinson, president of the Mexican Central Railroad led Doheny on one of the most successful oil prospecting trips he ever made.

Buys Spanish Grant

Traveling by special train instead of burro, he invaded old Mexico and by a shrewd coup purchased for about $1 an acre 280,000 acres of oil land near Tampico from the descendant of an ancient Spanish family which had held it since the sixteenth century.

At his death Doheny was president of 17 oil companies, director of five banks, and chairman of the board of four of the largest petroleum units in the country, including Pan-American Petroleum and Transport, Pan-American Western, Pan-American of California, and Mexican Petroleum of California.

His huge estate was expected to be shared by his wife, Carrie E. Doheny, whom he married in Marshalltown, Iowa, in 1900; the widow of his son slain in 1929, now Mrs. Leigh Battsom, and her five children of whom he was grandfather.

STATE MAKES FAMOUS DOGS FINE PROGRESS WILL PERFORM IN 85 YEARS AT 20-30 CLUB

"California has come a long way in 85 years; it probably will go as far again in the next 85 years."

That statement from the president of the Orange County Historical Society, Terry E. Stephenson, of Santa Ana, today hailed the celebration of Admission Day, commemorating the 85th anniversary of California's statehood.

"On September 9, 1850, when California was admitted to the Union, the people of the entire country were headed this way. In that respect, there has been no change—the people still are head-changed this way," said Stephenson.

"But otherwise there have been tremendous changes and development. We had had the state only three years in 1850. The gold rush was in full swing."

"But from that hectic era of unrest, California has come down the path of progress and prosperity, building a history of continual, if at times spasmodic, development."

"We have come through the romantic rancho period to the present agricultural and urban state that commands the wonder and respect of the world. The world has never seen anything like our growth."

"But although California is 85 years old today, our progress has really only begun. The next 85 years doubtless will bring fully as many changes and as much progress as the past."

WOMEN, CHILDREN REPORTED PERILED

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Concern was felt today for the position of seven women and six children attached to missionary stations in the Gambela district, whose governor prevented them from leaving the country to seek safety in the Sudan. All but one of them were Americans.

Emperor Haile Selassie intervened on request of Cornelius H. Van Engert, United States charge d'affaires. It was believed the Gambela governor misunderstood orders and believed nobody was to leave except by express permission of the government. He therefore refused to honor their passports to the Sudan.

The women and children were at Gore and Sayo, respectively 40 and 15 miles from Gambela.

An artist, featured in the picture, "Prince, King of Dogs," now playing at the West Coast theater, will entertain members of the 20-30 club tomorrow evening at a regular meeting to be held at James cafe, and the entertainment promises to be of a most unusual nature. The artist is "Prince," a four-year-old black German shepherd dog, who has an almost human mind and who will be assisted by his 13-months-old son, "Black Gold," blacker than his parent and with an almost equal amount of intelligence. The dogs are the property of T. L. Franke of Hollywood.

Prince has the world's record for balancing on a high bar and he can perform with the greatest of ease not only on the flying trapeze, but on an ordinary kitchen chair. Prince and Black Gold both weigh 95 pounds. The sire has a solid gold medal presented to him by the San Francisco News, awarded for saving the life of the sister of Franke, Mrs. Herman Buckley of Hollywood. Mrs. Buckley was taken seriously ill and when Franke, who was living with her, returned home, he found the house locked and Prince crying inside. He directed the dog to remove the key from the lock and push it under the door. The dog repeats the feat in the picture at the West Coast.

Franke states that he recently refused an offer of $15,000 for Prince, who was given to him at three months of age by a woman living at San Luis Obispo. Black Gold is the son of Prince and Lady Wellington of Ellensburg, Wash. Franke recently completed a 25,000 mile tour with the dogs, showing them at schools and service clubs and he plans to make a tour of the schools of this city this fall.

Prince and Black Gold staged a vaudeville act in the newsroom of The Register this morning, jumping rope and leaping through a 13-inch ring. A flick of their master's finger is the signal to Jim slowly, to crawl along the floor with one paw dragging, to assume a prayerful attitude, to back away or to do whatever a hand raised in such or such a way is interpreted by the intelligent canines. Kindness is the only thing used in training the dogs, Franke states, and their schooling began at three months of age.

"Say good-bye," said Franke, and a chorus of friendly barks was given to their interested audience.

"HOW'S TRICKS?" ASKS PRINCE

From left to right is T. L. Franke, owner of Prince and Black Gold to appear at the meeting of the 20-30 club at James cafe tomorrow at 6:30 p. m., Prince, and Franke's brother, J. A. Franke. Black Gold, the 13-month-old son of Prince, will appear with him on the program. Wayne Harrison is club president and Richard Ewart is program chairman.

WOMAN GETS HIGH P. O. EXAM RATING

Mrs. Vera Wettlin, acting postmaster at Orange for the past two years, has received word from Washington that she was given one of the three highest ratings in a recent examination of the post.

She was appointed in December, 1933 and her present rating indicates that she will receive the permanent appointment. Examinations were conducted the middle of July. When examinations were held previously the three aspirants receiving the highest ratings were V. D. Johnson, Joe Peterson and Frank C. Thompson.

FIND MAN MISSING FOR WEEK IN JAIL

The disappearance of George E. Morrison, 55, of 722 South Ross street, who had been reported as missing since September 5, was cleared up by police last night when they found him in jail in Los Angeles, officers reported today.

Morrison left here on a Pacific Electric car on the morning of August 5 to check several trunks owned by his aged mother and father, who were to leave for Cedar Rapids, Iowa. No other word was heard from him and police were asked to make an investigation.

According to the police report, Morrison got drunk and was arrested and unable to pay the fine imposed, was lodged in jail.

GRAPHIC STORY OF DEATH TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

The crash of the exploding revolver drowned out the sound of Speaker Allen Ellender who at that moment was announcing over the house amplifiers that the legislature was adjourned until 10 a. m. Monday, the calendar having been cleared.

Above the drone of the speaker's voice the vicious crackle of the pistols brought the departing spectators crowding down from the house galleries and for a moment created a near panic.

Col. E. P. Roy, commanding the state highway police, hurried forward and took charge. He posted a police guard about the blood-spattered body lying outside the governor's door.

Governor Allen rushed into the outer office demanding to know what had happened.

"Is Huey hurt?" he asked me. "I don't think he is," I lied.

And then to no one in particular, Governor Allen remarked, "Somebody give me a pistol if there is any shooting to be done here, I want to be in on it."

Theft of Cycle Leads to Arrest

Jack Morrill Palmer, 18, was lodged in the county jail by Santa Ana police officers yesterday following his arrest in Fresno on a charge of grand theft in connection with the asserted stealing of a motorcycle here.

The motorcycle was the property of Donald A. Ewart, of 1329 Custer street, officers stated.

The machine is now impounded in Newhall. Officers Harry Fink, assistant chief of police and W. R. Moreland returned the prisoner to Santa Ana. He will be arraigned on the charge tomorrow.

A WORD OF COMFORT

Greatness is to be developed through doing hard things with the deepening conviction that thereby God is being served. Such faith brings courage and humility which triumph over every difficulty.

The hard hours through which you must live should be approached in company with your God. Amid the struggle, you will develop greatness and you will become increasingly conscious of communion and fellowship with dear ones in Paradise.

Local Briefs

H. Godman and son, Louis, returned Saturday night from a vacation trip through Europe.

The Y. M. C. A. summer swimming schedule will be continued this week according to an announcement made this morning by Ralph Smedley, secretary. Girls will swim Tuesday and Friday afternoon and boys on Wednesday and Thursday as usual. Next week a new swimming schedule will be announced, Smedley stated.

Mrs. Mary Temple, of Fuller Park, was taken to the Orange County hospital today, suffering from a broken right wrist, received when she fell at her home.

Betty M. Best, 52, of Anaheim, and Earl C. Weyrauch, 47, of Long Beach, have applied for a marriage license in Riverside.

Lytle Graham, 9 years old, suffered a broken hand when he fell from a horse he was riding yesterday near his home, according to attendants at the Orange County hospital, where the youth was taken for medical aid. He was later removed to his home.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

Club No. 8 will meet at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Lincoln school. A talk will be made by a guest speaker.

L. L. Lemmon, president of the Brook Townsend club, announces a box social to be held in the Masonic hall Tuesday night, preceding the regular meeting of the club. Members and friends are asked to be there at 6:30 p. m. Lemmon states that the club now has a roll of about 300 members.

360 STUDENTS APPLY FOR U. C. REGISTRATION

The period of youth has been prolonged by economic pressure; formerly it was between the ages of 14 and 19, but youth now does not reach economic maturity until the age of 26 or 27, Director D. K. Hammond, of Santa Ana Junior College, today told assembled students at the opening session of Freshman Days. A total of 360 student applications for registration was reported from Junior College before noon today.

This figure bore out advance indications of increased enrollment this year. Prior to today, there had been 222 applications, as compared to 201 at the corresponding time last year.

The opening session of Freshman days, marking the annual reception to entering freshmen, took place at 10 a. m. in the auditorium of the First Baptist church.

Hammond said, in part: "You, like all young people, are looking for thrills and, if I mistake not, you are going to get plenty in your life time. You will have to make adaptations to economic and social conditions such as no other generation has ever made. In the first place, you have to adapt yourself to a period of prolonged youth. It now appears that you cannot grow up and reach maturity at least economically until you are 26 or 27. Formerly the period of youth was from 14 to 19. At 19 it used to be possible for a youth to secure a job, settle down and establish somewhere a 'little home in the West.' Now the outlook for settling down is dubious even at 26 or 27.

Under these circumstances, you fortunately now find yourself in Junior College where it is possible for you to capitalize on this period of prolonged youth to orient yourself and get your bearings in this confused world.

College is a place where you can develop all the attributes of a balanced personality and become the man or woman you want to be. Whether you succeed or not depends entirely upon you and how much will power and determination you exhibit. If you keep on striving earnestly and honestly you are bound to progress. You, after all, set your own standards. You are going to find in college new situations, new methods of study, new subjects, new aims and ideals. All of these we hope to lay before you in these conferences during these Freshman Days.

I can assure you that you will find faculty personnel the most important factor in helping you realize your ambition to develop all these elements in your personality which I have enumerated and to become that educated man or woman. The real worth of any college is most accurately judged by the character and quality of its faculty.

Although our faculty numbers no world-famed scholars and our instructors do not have out ponderous opinion on this subject and that, you will find that through years of experience in dealing with young men and women as human beings they do manage to make an apparently dead subject very much alive. They will awaken your curiosity and maintain your appetite for learning.

I should rate the opportunity to secure what is termed general culture as the first and most important one which you have in college. Life is likely to become so much a rough and tumble scramble especially in depression years when a man goes out into the world. Unless he is so mentally gaited as to keep the elegances of life constantly about him of his own free will, he soon loses what settles down to a steady diet of the cheap, coarse and commonplace things of our existence.

Next to the cultural advantages offered you have the opportunity to learn to work. Perhaps you think you have already learned this. I mean learning the value of work or work for the sheer joy of working.

A third and last opportunity which you have is really a civic obligation and a duty which you owe society. It is that of preparing yourself for active, interested and intelligent citizenship. Good citizenship depends first upon a knowledge of government. Every student should find a place in his program for courses in the social sciences. With a thorough knowledge of the forms and functions of our government you are equipped when you go out into the world to ally yourself with those forces which make good government possible. You will not accept the defeatist attitude, allowing ignorant but selfishly interested men to run our governmental units. You can make politics an honorable profession. You will see that good men are nominated for office, you will work at the polls, you will not dodge jury service but accept your share of civic responsibility and fight corruption wherever found. We are not helpless in the matter of securing good government if intelligent citizens take an interest and exercise the power they already have. It is the obligation of college trained men to be leaders in all movements for civic betterment.

L. L. Beeman, head of the Social Science department, opened the assembly today and introduced Director Hammond.

Charles Roemer, president of the associated students for the coming semester, also was presented by Beeman, and spoke a brief welcome to the new students. Roemer's official address of welcome will be given at the student assembly Wednesday morning.

On today's program were musical numbers by Robert Brown, Santa Ana business man, who rendered an old Scotch ballad and Miller's Lost Chord. He was accompanied on the organ by Harry Garstang.

Lynnwood Young also sang negro spirituals and "The Hills of Home." He is a student in the music department.

Talks by Ronald Cruickshank and Miss Gertrude Jentes, Junior College alumni, concluded the assembly.

The second of the Freshmen days will be opened tomorrow with an assembly at 10 a. m. in the same auditorium. The main part of the program will be given over to Thomas H. Glenn, English instructor at the college, who will speak on "Some Differences Between High School and College."

Director D. K. Hammond will also talk to the incoming students on the regulations and traditions of the junior college.

Included in the program will be vocal solos by Mr. I. Fields, Bernard Fields will accompany him. Leland Auer, orchestra instructor at the school, will play a cornet solo.

The rest of the day will be given over to tours of the buildings conducted by the women's service clubs of the school, and to examinations and consultations for the new students.

BUSBY BERKELEY
CRASH KILLS ONE

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—(UP)—From his hospital bed where he was being treated for severe injuries, including a possible skull fracture, Busby Berkeley, noted motion picture dance director, was to be questioned today by police, investigating a spectacular three way automobile collision in which a woman was killed and five other persons were injured.

Officers said Berkeley was driving at a high rate of speed when his machine piled into the other two cars on the Coast highway near Santa Monica canyon.

Mrs. Ada Von Brisson, 60, occupant of the second machine, died within a few minutes after firemen cut her way through the wreckage to liberate the victims.

Laura Von Brisson, 20, and Mrs. Marion Von Brisson were reported in critical condition.

PLAN ROBERT
BURNS HOME IN PARK SITE

Choice places for location of a miniature Robert Burns home in Hillcrest park were viewed yesterday when 200 members of the Burns society of Orange county gathered at the park for a picnic.

The society, which with the Chamber of Commerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Fullerton plans to erect the memorial, have sent to Scotland for duplicate copies of the Burns home plan, and will arrange to ask permission of the city trustees for erection of the cabin as soon as their plans are complete.

Los Angeles, Long Beach, Santa Ana, Anaheim, Fullerton and many places surrounding them were represented yesterday. The next meeting will be in the K. of C. hall, Santa Ana, at 8 p. m., September 20, according to Alex Walker, Fullerton, president of the Orange County Burns society.

CHAS. STANTON,
OFFICIAL'S KIN,
PASSES IN L. A.

Charles Stanton, 59, brother of State Highway Commissioner P. A. Stanton, of Anaheim, and well known in Orange county, where he owns an orange grove, died last night at the Queen of the Angels hospital in Los Angeles.

Death followed brief illness, a minor operation having been performed two weeks ago.

Stanton was chief electrician for the City of Los Angeles, at San Pedro, a post he had filled for 39 years. He was a frequent visitor in Orange county, being owner of an orange grove west of the P. A. Stanton home on Brookhurst road, west of Anaheim.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Thompson and Mrs. Otto Wiermer, both of Los Angeles; a niece, Miss Adeline Thompson, of Los Angeles; and two brothers, Lew Stanton, of San Francisco, and P. A. Stanton, of Anaheim.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

TENNIS ACE. (left) Bill Tilden: "I must keep in 'condition.' So I smoke Camels. They don't get my wind or upset my nerves. And I never tire of their smooth, rich taste."

STAR WOMAN GOLFER. (right) "There's a certain delicacy in the flavor of Camels," says Helen Hicks. "And Camels do not affect my nerves or cut down my wind."

GOLFER. (left) Tommy Armour: "Camels never bother my nerves or shorten my wind. And a Camel combines mildness with rich flavor in such a pleasing way."

JANE FAUNTZ, Olympic Swimming and Diving Star. "Being both a swimmer and a diver," says Miss Fauntz, "I have to keep in perfect 'condition.' Since I started smoking, I have always smoked Camels. Camels are mild and made from naturally fine tobaccos. They do not get my wind or jangle my nerves. And as for taste—Camels have a most delightful and appealing flavor. They are so soothing and gentle to the throat."

Other champions agree with Miss Fauntz as to the mildness of Camels...their fragrance and flavor...their good taste. Athletes say Camels don't fray their nerves or get their wind.

COSTLIER TOBACCOS!

CHAS. STANTON, OFFICIAL'S KIN, PASSES IN L. A.

Charles Stanton, 59, brother of State Highway Commissioner P. A. Stanton, of Anaheim, and well known in Orange county, where he owns an orange grove, died last night at the Queen of the Angels hospital in Los Angeles.

Death followed brief illness, a minor operation having been performed two weeks ago.

Stanton was chief electrician for the City of Los Angeles, at San Pedro, a post he had filled for 39 years. He was a frequent visitor in Orange county, being owner of an orange grove west of the P. A. Stanton home on Brookhurst road, west of Anaheim.

He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Thompson and Mrs. Otto Wiermer, both of Los Angeles; a niece, Miss Adeline Thompson, of Los Angeles; and two brothers, Lew Stanton, of San Francisco, and P. A. Stanton, of Anaheim.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ECONOMY
It now turns out that the administration may be making a virtue of necessity with its private talk that departmental and emergency heads must cut expenses and keep the budget in mind when they submit estimates for the 1937 fiscal year.

Before leaving Washington Democratic and Republican members of the House Appropriations Committee swore that they would back expenditures to the bone next January. They mean to eliminate all financial flourishes and ruffles. They have tentatively fixed $1,500,000,000 as maximum for relief funds, as against a preliminary figure of $2,000,000,000. Their top for all appropriations ranges between six and seven billion dollars—or four less than this year's total.

DILEMMA
New Dealers profess to feel no fear at the prospect that Father Coughlin will oppose President Roosevelt's reelection. They have known for some time that the Detroit cleric dislikes the man in the White House and would support him only if there were no other place to go.

But they discount his political following. They have learned that he has only one bow to his string. Unless he ballyhooes inflation, his collections begin to fall off. He ever he strikes out in other fields they understand that his mail reflects a tremendous lack of response.

This situation may force the padre into a curious dilemma. No GOP nominee, with the possible exception of Senator Borah, will advocate the kind of inflation that Father Coughlin wants. Thus he may have to tag along with Mr. Roosevelt, who has been accused of inflationary tendencies, or go some way with Huey Long. The Democrats are worried in either case.

PRESSURE
Under-Secretary Thomas Jefferson Coolidge is going to win his bet on baby bonds if he has to throw all his Democratic traditions out the Treasury window.

It appears that Mr. Coolidge bet that the new security would sell $300,000,000 worth—paid-in-value—the first year. That would admittedly be a fine showing. But in the first six months they sold about $120,000,000 worth—paid-in-value—or $150,000,000 in maturity value. On that basis he would lose his wager.

Now he has taken complete charge of the bond sale. Although extremely reluctant to ballyhoo a government security he seems to be inclining that way. He has taken a full-page ad in several mass magazines. He has got out a new poster depicting a beautiful Miss America advertising the security. He has hired a new salesman. Maybe that was his last dollar that he bet.

CONFIDENTIAL
GOP Senate Leader McNary bears the reputation as one of the whitest members on his side of the aisle. But some serious Republicans don't appreciate the joke he pulled on a visit to the White House before he left for Oregon.

"Mac" was on hand to push his bill providing for distribution of power at the Bonneville dam. The President agreed to support it, and at the Senator's request wrote a letter to the proper committee chairman beseeching immediate action. But as Mr. Roosevelt glanced through the bill, he noted a clause calling for a large expenditure. He didn't seem to like it.

"When do I have to spend this money, Mac?" he asked. "Oh, not until well into your second term, Mr. President," smiled the Senator. The President asked Mr. McNary if he could guarantee his statement about the "second term." "Not for publication," replied the red-headed member from the Northwest. The guarantee is off anyway, because Senate Democrats smothered the bill in committee.

JOKER
Army officers kept their fingers crossed for the last few weeks of Congress but now that the President has signed the resolution repealing unnecessary sections of the Volstead Act it can be told.

that effect. Banks are known to be refusing to turn over their books for prying eyes.

NOTES
George Hanson, scheduled to be American representative at Addis Ababa and then shunted to Salonika, is a suicide after a breakdown—he was badly disappointed. . . . A dozen Senators will study the European situation at first hand during recess—but Borah has never visited Europe. . . . As processing of the black is taken up by Stanley Reed, Solicitor General, has a special staff preparing for the defense of the New Deal before the Supreme Court.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

WORST
Father Coughlin's latest somersault has New York gasping. The priest's critics have long regarded him as a master of inconsistencies—but the harshest ones never dreamed he would reverse himself to the point of endorsing Hearst's Jeffersonian Democratic idea and by inference—Al Smith.

They recall Coughlin's savage onslaught on Smith as a pal of the Morgans. They ponder the reform program of the National Union for Social Justice—which would certainly require constitutional amendments to make it effective—and wonder how even a miracle of rationalization can square it with Hearst's stand-pat ideas about the fundamental law. They speculate as to how many of the alleged nine million followers he has enlisted with radical oratory will stick with him when the idea percolates that he has become a convert to right wing principles.

Observers remark that Coughlin must be one of the world's greatest cynic if he expects the public memory to be that short. But they add that he may be right at that—since there has been practically no public comment on his self-contradiction. . . .

SKEPTICAL
What's behind the about-face? Those who should know ascribe two motives. One is pique at the Roosevelt administration because it has not followed in detail the course that Coughlin charted. The development confirms this column's prediction that New Dealers who counted Coughlin as safely in the fold for '36 were in for a rude awakening.

The other motive—perhaps more important—is Coughlin's desire to ride a winning horse. He is said to have sensed a drift away from Roosevelt. Therefore he is setting the stage to appear as a leader in a cause that is presumably becoming more popular. But note that there is nothing whatever to prevent him from switching back again if the tide is once more reversed.

Paradoxically Coughlin's support of the Jeffersonian party plan will probably do it more harm than good. The conservatives who would normally form its backbone dislike and distrust him. Some of the big timers who originally favored the plan now express strong skepticism as to whether it can be a good thing if the radio priest is for it.

KEY
If Coughlin gets too obstreperously anti-Roosevelt the administration has ways of pinching him where it hurts. For instance—there's the Congressional Committee appointed to investigate Huey Long. Its charter is broad enough to authorize an inquiry into the private affairs of the National Union for Social Justice—including the details of its finances—if FDR considered that desirable.

The committee has of course no direct responsibility to the White House. But loyalty to the President was a big factor in the election of its personnel—and there's no reason to doubt that it will be extremely attentive to White House suggestions.

WISE
New York bankers approve of the new ruling which limits interest to 3 per cent on time and savings deposits for member banks of the Federal Reserve system.

with Washington tell of subtle changes in what might be called FDR's staff of intimate advisers. Professor Felix Frankfurter—while still a welcome White House guest—is said to carry less weight as a counselor than he did.

John Nance Garner and Raymond Moley are understood to have the innermost track at present. They work well together—which would have been incredible two years ago. Both are urging the President to pay more attention to the business viewpoint. Insiders continue to prophesy that Moley will have a lot to do with drafting Mr. Roosevelt's speeches for his forthcoming tour—with Garner at his elbow as an expert on political reactions.

But no matter how assiduously these two devote their talents to helping the President persuade business that it has nothing to fear from New Yorkers doubt that financial and industrial leaders will be convinced. The iron of reform legislation has burned too deep.

SLAMMED
Until quite recently the Chase and the National City were regarded with suspicion by other New York banks because they were "pro-New Deal." The Chase was absolved from the charge several months ago when Winthrop Aldrich got in Dutch with New Deal-ers for opposing the Eccles version of the banking bill. Last week the National City broke away with an onslaught on the tax bill in its monthly review which surprised even conservatives by its savagery. It went even further than Hearst in alleging rank communism.

So ends the last beautiful friendship between the White House and a leading New York institution. The National City left no room for uncertainty about its attitude. There was no polite dipping of the door as hard as the angriest husband who ever walked out on a family quarrel.

BREA, YORBA LINDA PROJECTS APPROVED

Two grants for WPA projects in Northern Orange county were included in the $739,268 allotment that had the approval of President Roosevelt Saturday.

A $540 grant was made Brea for a community hall sponsored by Brea Woman's club and Lions club that is now partly completed. A $1210 allocation was made to improve the Yorba Linda grammar schools.

The clubhouse will belong to the city when completed. It has been partly constructed in the 300 block on South Pomona avenue.

Work at the Yorba Linda school under the new WPA setup will include the laying of sidewalks, placing new lawn and sprinkling system on the east side of the building; laying 150 feet of drain pipe; 200 yards of dirt moved to enlarge grounds and installation of an overflow drain box.

1191 REGISTERED FOR HIGH SCHOOL

FULLERTON, Sept. 9.—With 1191 students registered at noon Saturday for entry in class work Tuesday, a slight increase in enrollment is anticipated before the peak is reached this semester, according to the administrative offices of the high school.

The increase is estimated on the large eighth grade classes entering freshman classes, according to A. S. Redfern, vice principal and in charge of registration.

Water Bonds To Be Discussed By Anaheim Center

ANAHEIM, Sept. 9.—Opening the farm center for the year, the program arranged for Tuesday evening will center about discussion of the water bonds to come before the people on October 4.

Supervisor Willard Smith will talk on "Facts and Figures" as they concern the water problem and W. C. Mauerhan, member of the board of the Orange County Water district, will talk on "Now Is the Time."

A. C. Bonney and L. H. Halderman are in charge of a covered dish supper to precede the meeting. A. E. Christiansen will preside.

IMPROVEMENTS IN CITY TOTAL OVER $360,000

FULLERTON, Sept. 9.—Improvements completed, under way, or for which application for assistance have been made under the various federal programs in the city of Fullerton, exclusive of school programs, total more than $360,000 according to records kept by Herman Hiltcher, city engineer.

From April 13, 1933 when the RFC program opened until May 5, 1935, under SERA, the funds spent in Fullerton by the federal government for city improvements totaled $128,837.47 for labor, $16,224.48 for materials, while the city spent $19,334.46 for labor and $37,094.75 for materials to match those figures. Subsequently other projects have been started or applied for. These projects total $201,491.

Since May 6, 1935, work has been started on and application for the following projects, under FWA: New city hall, totaling with furnishings and land purchase, $68,000; Baque bridge, nearly complete, costing $11,000; Brea road, $28,000; Hillcrest park and Whit-tier road, $18,000; water extension, $30,000 and an electric fountain for Hillcrest park, $20,000. The total is $366,000.

According to a summary made of work accomplished to May of 1935, the RFC program included the making of lawns, repairing and placing of water sprinkling systems, street margins, airport repairs, first work on an amphitheater in Hillcrest park, bleachers at Commonwealth park, nightball field lighting, sewer repairs and building of 2300 feet of roads at a cost of $51,349.84. Of this the federal government spent $37,550 in labor bills; the city, $5626.64 in labor and $8173.20 in materials.

Under CWA, more work was done on Hillcrest and Commonwealth parks, including work on playgrounds; Ford avenue soup kitchen was constructed; Ford and Malden bridges built; a booster pump was installed, sprinkling system at Hillcrest park installed; the grand stand in Commonwealth park was added to; the water courses were prepared against being destroyed by flood; more than 14,000 feet of water pipe laid; some road work was done and many trees planted in parkings.

The cost was $66,634.25; $54,000 was paid by the federal government. Under the later SERA program, bridge bank protection was placed, the fence around Commonwealth park was constructed; parkways were made; Brea road repaired and straightened. The total cost was $76,495, of which the federal government paid for labor and materials, $54,000.

MISS DUTTON BRIDE OF EVERETT HARRIS

ANAHEIM, Sept. 9.—Miss Ruth Dutton, popular Anaheim girl and the granddaughter of Mrs. Ida Dutton, 727 North Claudina street, was married to Everett Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Harris, of Valley Center, at the Placentia Calvary church, Saturday evening, the Rev. Don Milligan officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Howard served as the couple's only attendants. Miss Dutton wore a white wool swaggar suit with white accessories and a corsage of coral gladioli and blue delphinium. Mrs. Howard wore blue crepe and a similar corsage.

They are spending a week at Sequoia and General Grant National parks and will live at 118 Mills drive on their return.

The bride graduated from Lora grammar school and from Anaheim High school with the class of 1935. Mr. Harris completed his studies at Fullerton High school in 1930 and is now connected with the West End Alpha Beta market in Anaheim.

CANNOT HIDE FACTS, PASTOR SAYS IN TALK

FULLERTON, Sept. 9.—"The world today is paying the penalty of the World War; each nation prayed to God for victory in that war, defying the laws of God, and our economic depression is the result of ethical transgression of the past," the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor, said at Sunday night services at the Methodist church.

He used as his text, "Therefore endure hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ," a message given to Timothy by St. Paul, and as his sermon topic, "Meeting Our Hardships."

After making a summary of the situation we are facing as individuals and as a nation, including the hardship of unemployment, he said, "The material progress that held up the nation have given way. Now we as adults should so face facts as to rebuild that our children need not endure the same results of mistakes. Under the present depressing conditions suicide rates in United States have doubled since 1915, trebled in the past three years; unemployment, in spite of the federal program, is increasing. Let us face it.

"There are three ways a soldier of Jesus Christ would endure hardship.

"First, face facts; we tried to hide facts for a long time, we tried to make believe that alcoholic liquors would assist in the unemployment situation; we did not face facts or we would have known they are only opiates to the people in distress who use them.

"Second, we must learn to use hardships as lessons to better our conditions and the conditions of those about us.

"A third way is to take a positive attitude toward life after facing facts, and to turn griefs to service."

League In Party For New Students

FULLERTON, Sept. 9.—The Hawaiian motif was used when members of the Fullerton Union High school girls' league entertained Saturday afternoon for new girl students of the school.

The party was in the girls' gymnasium. Harriett Krause, chairman of general arrangements, was assisted by a large committee and by faculty advisors, Miss Emma J. Kast and Mrs. Nell Carmichael. The girls were brought to the party on school buses, which made their initial run of the year.

CAMPAIGN FOR ARMY FUNDS TO OPEN SEPT. 18

ANAHEIM, Sept. 9.—Relief work in Anaheim will take the major portion of the funds for which the local unit of the Salvation Army will campaign starting September 18, according to Envoy B. D. Rea, who announced that J. B. Collings will be chairman of the drive and H. H. Benjamin will be treasurer. Rea said that the Salvation Army is called upon to provide aid for a large group of ineligible for federal relief because they lack the required three years' residence in the state.

A part of the money will be applied at the regular institutions maintained by the Salvation Army. These include a fresh air camp for mothers and children, iris' rescue home, orphans' home, prison and missing friends' department, and a training college for young people planning to enter Salvation Army work.

FEDERAL FUNDS ALLOCATED FOR FARMER DEBTS

"Farm debt adjustment activities in almost every county in the United States will be continued and expanded as the result of the recent allocation of two million dollars from work relief funds to the Resettlement Administration." It was announced today by F. E. McCarter, rural rehabilitation agent under the resettlement division, in charge of work in Orange county.

The work of the debt adjustment program in Orange county will be administered through the farm debt adjustment committee, consisting of: Dr. Stephen, La Habra; Ben Osterman, El Toro; J. J. Dwyer, Anaheim; H. L. Wakeham, Santa Ana, and M. R. Allen, Garden Grove. State director is Harry E. Drobish, Berkeley.

National farm organizations have credited the debt adjustment program with keeping a half million people off relief rolls in the past two years by preventing bankruptcies and foreclosures, it was said. The work has been carried on by 15,000 voluntary workers, organized as committees in virtually every county in the nation.

With the exception of five or six counties, it was stated, all areas in the five states in this district, including California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah and New Mexico, are affected by the work. "It is hoped," McCarter said, "that the continuation of the program so ably started will add greatly to the benefits which have gone to the large lists of farm families who have profited by the program."

Royal Air Force headquarters at Ottawa have received more than 2000 inquiries regarding the Colonial and Dominions enlistment plan, since R. A. F. expansion was authorized by the British government.

TIP-LESS DAYS ENDED FOR PRETTY WAITRESS

Friend's hint solves problem

WHAT could be the matter? Patrons she'd waited on before, tried her best to please, pointedly avoided her table when she came back. Her tips dwindled to almost nothing.

In despair she told her troubles to an old school friend who'd dropped in for lunch. Then... but let her friend finish the story.

"When she was waiting on me, I plainly noticed a hint of 'B.O.' I had a magazine with me. There was a Lifebuoy ad in it. I tore it out, left it folded on the table under my tip."

"Next time I went to the tea room, she was all smiles. 'Business is great,' she told me. 'Your tip has brought me plenty of tips. I don't know how to thank you. I'm using Lifebuoy every day. No more 'B.O.' for me!'"

Thousands of letters show what harm "B.O." can do. They're coming all the time to the makers of Lifebuoy, these real letters from real people. Sometimes

SANTA ANA ELKS WIN TITLE IN S. C. RITUAL COMPETITION AND WILL ENTER STATE MEET

Santa Ana Elks today were celebrating the victory of their ritualistic team, which won the Southern California championship at San Bernardino yesterday and earned the right to enter the state contest at Santa Monica September 26. It was the first time Santa Ana lodge ever captured the title.

Santa Ana, with a score of 95.8307 per cent, defeated four other lodges, which finished in the following order: Riverside second with 95.833 per cent; Anaheim third with 94.871 per cent; San Bernardino fourth with 94.277 per cent; Redlands fifth with 93.630 per cent.

Officers on Team
The Santa Ana team was composed of officers of the lodge: Don Jerome, exalted ruler; V. L. Motry, leading knight; H. R. Brown, loyal knight; William Garvin, lecturing knight; Claude McDowell, esquire; Ridley Smith, chaplain; Ben Osterman, inner guard.

Five judges presided over the contest, judging floor work, punctuation, delivery, and such points. In addition there were three checkers, who checked the various teams by book for letter perfection.

Honor Rare
In the 12 years that the contests have been held, the championship has come to Orange county only once before. Anaheim lodge winning it in 1928.

Santa Ana's victory yesterday places the local lodge in the state contest which will be held September 26 at the Elks state convention in Santa Monica. Six teams, each having won a division championship, will compete. Santa Ana's team will be the second to take the floor, at 2:30 p. m. on the first day of the convention.

The state winner will enter the national contest at the convention in Los Angeles next July.

Buena Park Man Leaves For East

BUENA PARK, Sept. 9.—Frank Wilsey, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wilsey, of South Grand avenue, left Friday night for Sterling, Colo., where his wedding with Miss Nina Beth Hamilton will be solemnized. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hamilton and graduated from Fullerton Junior college last June. She has been a guest for the past two years of her aunt, Miss Nina Duden, and Mrs. Alma Duden at their home in Buena Park.

Wilsey, who plans a preliminary trip to Chicago, Indianapolis and Kentucky before the wedding, was host at a dinner party entertaining a group of friends at the home of his parents.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Wilsey, parents of the host; Miles Privett, Richard Fredrick, Dick Sloan, Preston Owens, Buena Park; Fred Nunlist and Bill Wood, Fullerton, and R. H. Mac LeRoy and Hal Baldwin, Riverside.

Editor, Register,
Dear Sir:

Much has been said about big corporations and the government's interference in business. The arguments have been "pro" and "con." It is not merely big business of an enterprise, especially when its transactions are confined to one single state; provided the growth of the enterprise is the result of the management's ability to "lead rather than lag."

When, however, a corporation extends its field over large areas of different states; when merging and monopolizing is from sheer avarice of making big, quick profits, then it is open to suspicion. In that case usually only a few of the larger stockholders reap the profits. The rest are left in the lurch. Their investments are absorbed in the many cupboard holes that are so intricately interwoven in some of those large holding companies.

Besides their highly centralized business interferes with our decentralized federal government. It is difficult to render fair judgment in a righteous cause when an enterprise has its office in different states. Since the laws of our various states differ, loopholes may be found to dodge responsibility and regulations.

If we desire a more democratic government and a more rugged individualism, then we should all act accordingly, be willing to make sacrifice in aiming to seek the public welfare as well as our own.

HELENA S. CHRISTIANSEN

Shower Held For Buena Park Girl

BUENA PARK, Sept. 9.—More than 100 guests attended the shower given Friday evening in the Congregational church social hall for Miss Charlotte Greenawalt, bride-elect of Charles Robinson, of Santa Monica. Members of the various church organizations were hostesses for the occasion. Miss Nina Duden was general chairman of arrangements.

A style review of wedding gowns was presented, with girls of the church as models. Ages of the costumes ranged through a black and white gown, originally the property of the grandmother of A. Krack and dated 1740, gowns from weddings of 26 to 30 years ago, and costumes of modern date and type. Mrs. Floyd Neal announced each of the gowns and dresses. Mrs. Ferol Smith played wedding music appropriate to each period.

Decorations included potted plants, and asters together with a variety of autumn flowers provided a wedding setting. Punch and home made cookies were served.

Hold Buena Park Card Party Soon

BUENA PARK, Sept. 9.—A card party for the evening of September 30 at the Masonic temple has been announced. Prizes are to be given for bridge and "500." A refreshment course will be served.

Prize winners at the recent card party held by the Eastern Star at the temple were Mrs. C. E. Allin, door prize; Mrs. Fred Cates, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. L. Smith, of Santa Ana, bridge awards; Mrs. S. J. Scallie, of Cypress, and Mrs. C. R. Allin, "500" prizes.

The affair was sponsored by Mrs. Alma Gallagher, chapter worthy matron and her group of officers.

Social Planned By Legion Group

FHA PLANS FOR CLINIC SERIES IN SANTA ANA

In the very near future a series of Insured Mortgage Clinics will be held in Santa Ana, it was announced today. These clinics will be preceded over by FHA representatives. The subject plan of insured mortgage clinics purposes to show banks and property owners of various cities exactly how the insured mortgage plan operates, using bona fide applications as illustrated cases. Briefly, the insured mortgage clinic is a method of education of all interested parties in the community, resulting in a wide-spread and correct understanding of the National Housing Act in its benefits to all participants in the Better Housing Program.

The method involves periodic visits announced and arranged in advance from cities to cities for a potential volume of insured mortgages is greatest.

Insured mortgage clinics have been conducted in several of the larger cities in Southern California, James Berry, county field representative, said. The preliminary results show that the method of holding clinics in these cities was successful in explaining the insured mortgage plan satisfactorily.

GUARDS KILL MAN WHO SHOT U. S. SENATOR

and considerable hemorrhage from the mesentery and omentum." A crisis was expected in 66 hours.

Telephone and telegraph brought condolences from scores of Long's "share the wealth" clubs throughout the country.

Prayers Ordered
The Louisiana "share-the-wealth" club ordered its members to pray for his recovery.

Not one word of sympathy, not one expression of hope that he would recover, came from Long's political enemies, many of whom have openly expressed their wish that he would die violently.

The last such expression was that of former Mayor George Hardy who in a speech here, urged a "hempen rope" for Long.

Recently Long charged in the senate that a group of Louisiana politicians, including four congressmen, had plotted his death. All denied participation in the plot, but several were quoted that they thought it "a good idea."

Long surrounded himself with a bodyguard ranging from 10 to 20 men wherever he went, but it was ineffective against the young surgeon who stepped from behind a marble pillar in the ornate $50,000 capitol Long had erected as a monument to himself, with a German Luger pistol in his hand.

Before Legislature
The senator had just left a session of his subservient legislature where he had introduced a new series of laws to hamstring the federal administration and his Louisiana enemies. The laws, in addition to gerrymandering the assassin's father-in-law out of office, would have made it a criminal offense for any official duty in Louisiana not directly sanctioned by the federal constitution.

Weiss fired two shots, the first catching Long in the right side, the second hitting the thumb of one of the bodyguards, Murphy Roden, who already was leveling his pistol. One shot and Weiss fell on his face. In the subsequent panic, others of the bodyguards fired into the prostrate form. In all, it was struck by 15 bullets.

Long's wife and their three children came here immediately from the $40,000 Long mansion in New Orleans and Mrs. Long saw him for a few minutes. She emerged from the hospital, her face composed. There was no sign of tears.

Weiss' body lay for an hour on the corridor floor, while legislators and politicians raced hysterically from room, shouting and crying. Gov. Allen appeared once in the corridor, demanded a pistol, and announced: "If there's any shooting around here, I want to get in on it." Later the body was removed to a morgue.

STATEMENT BY PRESIDENT
HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 9. —(UP)—President Roosevelt in a formal statement today expressed deep regret over the attempted assassination of Sen. Huey P. Long, his severest congressional critic.

"I deeply regret," Mr. Roosevelt said, "the attempt made upon the life of Senator Long of Louisiana. The spirit of violence is un-American and has no place in a consideration of public affairs, least of all at a time when calm and dispassionate approach to the difficult problems of the day is so essential."

He also sent a message to Mrs. Long.

Week End Arrests Land Three In Jail For Drunk Driving

Three persons were arrested over the week end here on charges of driving automobiles while under the influence of liquor, one of which was involved in an automobile accident.

William Frederick Wade, 27, of 151 West Pine street, Orange, was booked at 11:55 p. m. yesterday after the car he was said to have been driving was involved in a crash on the coast highway in which three persons were injured.

Ewald Schwendt, 28, refinery operator of 1707 South Main street, Santa Ana, was arrested Saturday night by Deputy Sheriff G. F. McKelvey.

Herbert E. Cartwright, 25, textile worker, of 516 Pine street, Santa Ana, was booked at the jail at 12:55 p. m. Sunday following his arrest by George Boyd, city motorcycle officer, at Walnut and Cypress streets.

NEW TEACHERS ON FACULTY AT S. A. JAYCEE

Five new instructors have been added to the faculty at Santa Ana Junior college and changes have been made in the teaching schedule of several others. Director D. K. Hammond stated today.

Frederick H. Schroeder, a graduate of U. C. L. A. and the University of California at Berkeley, will teach the new course in bacteriology, and will also have classes in physiology, zoology, and health.

Lucia Lucinda M. Griffith, graduate of Pomona college and the University of California, will have the arts and crafts classes in the new art bungalow on the college campus. Robert S. Farrar, coach of the debate team at Santa Ana High school for the past year, will instruct orientation classes at the Jaycee and will also advise the debate team there.

Mrs. Grace Mulford Knipe, graduate of Stanford university, U. C. L. A., and U. S. C., will have several classes in English at the Junior college, replacing Miss Agnes Todd Miller who is studying at the University of California this year.

Dr. B. F. Mock, of San Juan Capistrano, has been appointed school physician and will be in charge of physical examinations made of all entering students.

Other changes in the teaching staff are the appointment of Calvin Flint as dean of men and the addition of public speaking classes to the schedule of Ernest Crozier Phillips, drama instructor.

MERCHANT OBJECTS TO ANCIENT BEGGAR

A Santa Ana merchant, who did not sign his name, wrote a post card to the Santa Ana police today complaining. The post card read as follows:

"For the past five years an old man with white whiskers and a gunny sack comes down the Fourth street section begging at the stores. We don't want to turn him down but we are paying taxes for hospitals and county poor farm." It was signed "One of the storemen."

EL CENTRO FEELS SHOCK

EL CENTRO, Calif., Sept. 9. —(UP)—A check today showed no damage resulted from a series of moderate earthquakes which shook Imperial valley yesterday morning.

Felt throughout the valley, the tremors started with a mild shake at 6:30 a. m., followed by two more at 9:15 a. m., and a fourth, somewhat heavier, at 10:55 a. m.

MODEL KITCHEN SETTING FOR COOKING CLASS

A modern kitchen, beautifully finished in black tile, cream woodwork with a faint edging of Chinese red, and with convenient arrangements for cupboard and shelf space, will be the setting for the Santa Ana Register's free cooking school which opens next Wednesday afternoon at the American Legion hall, and continues through Thursday and Friday.

In recessed alcoves are placed a modern natural gas range, furnished through Horton's Furniture store, and a modern Electrolux, the natural gas refrigerator. The arrangement of the modern kitchen is such that it saves thousands of needless steps which so many women make week after week in kitchens which were poorly planned by builders or their predecessors in the house.

Special Burners
Two model Wedgewood stoves will be furnished by Horton's. Both these models are complete with a Grayson automatic clock control, Harper speed simmer-burners and Astor grill burners, distinctive features of the Wedgewood stoves, and the result of 56 years experience in building them.

The Harper burners, according to Chester Horton, give the housewife unusual advantages seldom found in gas ranges. Automatic stove heat control is possible with these burners, seldom found for top-of-stove cooking. They are equipped with a two-way valve all in one.

All models come in attractive color combinations, including white, ivory, tan and green, and combinations of these four. They are equipped with a new process which guarantees to keep the color from fading or becoming discolored by heat. The Astor grill broiler, made of a special alloy and designed to give the utmost service to housewives, is designed to seal the goodness in broiled foods.

Point Is Economy
Some of the points of interest to all women, in addition to the fascinating recipes to be demonstrated at the cooking school, which have been announced, have to do with the dependability and economy of natural gas for the modern home.

Cooking, according to the announcement, for the average family, is done with Wedgewood stoves at a cost of about one-fifth of a cent per person per meal. Dependable and noiseless refrigeration on the Electrolux refrigerator develops a fuel cost of only about two cents per day. Thirty gallons of hot water, which is so necessary to modern homes, is heated at a cost of only two cents. And with all this there is assurance from geologists and state authorities that California's supply of natural gas will last for many, many years.

Ingredients for the fascinating recipes to be explained by Mrs. Lucille Martens, home economist in charge of the school, will be secured from leading Santa Ana merchants.

Joe's Grocery will furnish all grocery products; the Annex Meat Market the fine meats to be cooked; Crowther's Fruit and Vegetable store the greens and fruits used; and the Blue Ribbon Dairy will furnish the milk and cream used in all the recipes calling for them.

Sail Boat Drifts Ashore at Cove

Ownership of a small sailboat which floated onto the beach at Crystal Cove, Laguna Beach, this morning was being traced today following a report to the sheriff's office by George Hoey, Crystal Cove, on the finding of the boat.

According to officers here, no one has been reported missing.

Police News

Roy Figueroa, 35, of 112 South Pepper street, Orange, was booked at the county jail last night on a charge of assault and battery. Orange police made the arrest.

Nineteen persons were lodged in the county jail over the week end on drunk charges. Jail records show.

Deputy sheriffs were called to Westminster late last night on a report that several Filipinos were in a knife battle. They were not found when officers arrived.

D. K. Vrooman, 1521 West Second street, reported to police today that a number of rabbits and chickens were stolen from his place last night. A quantity of gasoline also was taken, he said.

A sneak thief stole a $25 suit of clothes from the Brooks Clothing store, Spurgeon at Fourth streets, Saturday, according to a report made by the manager.

An automobile, registered to M. E. Jilla, Route No. 3, Santa Ana, was recovered by police last night at the intersection of the Del Rio Road and Bristol street. Five wheels had been removed from the car, officers said.

Mrs. O. A. Spicer, 2348 North Park boulevard, reported to police that a prowler was seen in her back yard at 10:05 p. m. yesterday. Police searched the neighborhood.

Charles Miller, 10, of 1011 West Chestnut street, was bitten by a dog kept at 1027 West pine street yesterday, according to a report filed with the police by the youth's father. He is not believed to have been badly hurt.

SEEK TO LESSEN HURRICANE MENACE

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9.—(UP)—A three point program to lessen the menace of tropical hurricanes to America's shore line was decided upon today.

Officials who have been investigating the disastrous Florida storm of a week ago agreed that:

1—The hurricane warning service should be improved.
2—Consideration should be given to abandonment of the railroad to Key West and substitution of a ferry service.
3—Standards for building construction should be improved in some sections of Florida.

PRO-RATE VALIDITY WILL BE ATTACKED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Constitutionality of the California pro-rate act regulating the marketing of agricultural products will be attacked tomorrow before the state supreme court, opening a three day session here.

The court will be asked to rule upon an injunction recently obtained in superior court by the Mutual Orange Distributors association, enjoining enforcement of the pro-rate law in the lemon industry.

Deputies Attorney General Walter L. Boers and Albert Belford, who represented the state at the lower court hearing, obtained a writ of prohibition from the superior court, blocking the injunction. The writ is returnable tomorrow.

$2,000,000 SWINDLE TRIAL OPENS TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—(UP)—James C. McKay and William J. Graham, Reno, Nev., gambling operators, were "central executives" of the "big shots" in an alleged scheme wherein some 70 persons, "usually elderly, lonesome and gullible," were swindled out of more than $2,000,000, the government charged today at the opening of their trial on mail fraud charges.

George F. Pfann, youthful assistant U. S. attorney, in his opening statement to a jury which was selected in the record time of 47 minutes, exoriated the two defendants who sat frowning only a few feet away.

P. T. A. Board To Convene Tonight

BUENA PARK, Sept. 9.—Members of the executive board of the Grand Avenue P. T. A. and their husbands are to be guests this evening of Mrs. Robert Sutherland, organization president. A 6:30 o'clock dinner will precede the business session.

Plans are to be made for the opening P. T. A. meeting, a reception for the teachers, and for the September 19 Fourth District.

TROOP ADVANCE ORDERED

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Dajazmach Amde Mikael has been ordered to proceed to Ogaden at the head of 25,000 troops, mostly Gallas, who are famed cavalry fighters, it was disclosed today.

Meantime a report was circulating that an intercepted Italian message had set Sept. 24 as the hour for Italy's expected push into Ethiopia.

Only outposts are maintained on the frontier in such fortifications as scant time has permitted the Ethiopians to erect. These consist of trenches and a few concrete walls.

RIGHT-OF-WAY IS IN SPOT BY ENGINEERS

COSTA MESA, Sept. 9.—The State Highway commission plans to widen Newport boulevard from the junction of Harbor boulevard south to Coast boulevard, using the old Southern Pacific right-of-way for the added space, it was reported here today. Engineers for the commission made an inspection of the strip Saturday.

The Southern Pacific tracks will be removed as far north as the Martin airport, the Southern Pacific having turned the property over to the state some time ago. Work of removing the tracks started last week at The Arches at Newport Beach, where an over-head crossing will be built soon.

According to Harold Grauel, president of the Costa Mesa Chamber of Commerce, the chamber last week petitioned the commission to turn the S. P. strip between Broadway and Eighteenth street into a parking space.

Pedestrian lanes and suitable traffic signals are to be established on Newport boulevard through Costa Mesa, Grauel said today.

DEADLINE ON PWA PROJECTS REACHED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Swampy by a deluge of applications the PWA today closed its books on further requests for new projects from the $4,000,000 Federal Works program intended to end direct relief by Nov. 1.

More than 2500 applications from states, cities and counties poured into PWA during the past three days, being the total to 4,000.

Officials decided to advance the deadline which previously had been set for Sept. 12 to permit consideration of the many late requests by that date.

DEDICATE NEW WESTMINSTER GRADE SCHOOL

WESTMINSTER, Sept. 9.—Dedication of new Westminster school building took place Friday night, with a large number in attendance. The structure cost $41,027.44, with $32,351.44 as a direct cost to the district, the remainder representing SERRA labor. The school is the fourth dedicated since the Westminster colony was established, the first being built in 1878.

Speakers on the program included Fred Vurley, superintendent of construction; J. E. Allison, architect, who officially turned over the keys to the new building to the board of education, and Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools.

The program was under the auspices of the P. T. A., Mrs. Marie Nelson presiding, and Orton Bebermeyer, superintendent, acted as master of ceremonies. The Rev. Clifford Jones of the Midway City Community church gave the invocation. Mrs. Margaret Miller presented a piano solo and Mrs. Sylvia Otis presented an original reading. The benediction was by the Rev. J. A. Wootton of the Midway City Nazarene church.

Approximately 125 persons attended the pot-luck supper held on the lighted lawn at the kindergarten building while about 250 were present for the program and inspection of the building which followed the program. Teachers acted as hostesses in their own rooms during inspection.

The school opens Tuesday for the new term.

SPANISH TROUPE PRESENTS PROGRAM

BALBOA, Sept. 9.—Sponsored by Balboa merchants, Spanish entertainers, Senorita Rafaela, Senor Carlos Salazar, Dora Gomez, and others sang and danced here over the week end. The troupe appeared in several acts on a stage set at the south end of the thoroughfare on the beach. Senorita Rafaela gave several costume dances on the stage. The group will appear again tonight from 7 to 10 o'clock.

SENATOR SAYS U. S. NOT RESPONSIBLE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Sen. W. H. King, D. Utah, former member of the Utah supreme court said today the United States government cannot technically be held responsible for the opinion of Magistrate Brodsky of New York implying the Nazi flag to be a pirate emblem.

But he thought it would be proper for the state department to express regret.

"It seems to me much ado about nothing," he said.

EVICTED HOMES PREPARED FOR FALL

ALAMOGORDO, N. M., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Eviction notices ordering Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and his family to vacate the Tres Ritos ranch near Three Rivers, N. M., were prepared today by the district clerk here.

The eviction suit was filed by attorneys for the Petroleum Securities Corp.

The concern, owned by the E. L. Doherty interests, requested Fall to give possession of the rambling, 14-room ranch house several weeks ago but the aged and infirm former cabinet member refused.

Fall claimed that under an agreement with Doherty, who died yesterday in California, he was to have possession of the ranch home for the remainder of his life.

PRESIDENT PLANS TALK IN NEBRASKA

OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 9.—(UP)—President Roosevelt has very definitely in mind a speech at Fremont, Neb., about Sept. 26 or 27, Secretary of War George H. Dern said here today.

Dern, en route to his home in Salt Lake City, said he had discussed the Fremont stop with Mr. Roosevelt.

"The president thought Fremont would be an ideal spot for an agricultural speech," Dern said. "It is planned to hold a monster mass meeting at the farm of Dan V. Stephens, Fremont banker and cattle raiser. One hundred thousand persons could be accommodated on the Stephens' lawn."

Social Section Holds Two Picnics in One Day

Woman's club of Santa Ana Social section gave Friday over to picnic, meeting at Newport Beach for a noonday affair and continuing to Corona del Mar for an evening party at which husbands of members were guests.

During the afternoon business session, it was voted to hold meetings of the section the third Tuesday of each month, beginning at 1:30 p. m., limiting attendance to members and houseguests only. Reservations must be made. Dessert will be served to precede bridge play. Announcement was made that the next meeting will be Tuesday, September 17, with Mrs. R. G. Carman, 1904 Bush street, telephone 10343.

Present were Mesdames Blanche Hackett, J. C. Ford, E. M. Waycott, J. D. Watkins, E. A. Elwell, H. M. Kinslow, Rolla Hays, Earl Ladd, J. G. McCracken, C. F. Crose, Margaret Church, P. R. Arnold, E. C. Read, R. A. McLaughlin and the Misses Linda Kroecker, Dorothy Ladd, Mary Belle Ladd, Cherie Cosad, Annie de Groot.

Evening Affairs

Mrs. J. D. Watkins section leader, was assisted by Mesdames W. M. Wells and E. M. Waycott in making plans for the evening picnic. Games were played, and many prizes were awarded.

Participants were Dr. and Mrs. Richard Pallett, Messrs. and Mesdames Rolla Hays, E. A. Elwell, C. R. Walter, R. G. Carman, J. D. Watkins, E. M. Waycott, Earl Ladd, L. G. Holman, J. F. Jacoby, W. M. Past Presidents Meet To Lunch and Plan U. D. C. Affairs

With her decorative details in sea green suggesting the ocean which her cottage overlooks, Mrs. Victor Montgomery was hostess last week to the past presidents of Santa Ana chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy at a delicious Southern luncheon in her Balboa Beach home.

Barnacle covered "sand dollars" holding tiny candles served as favors at each place.

Miss Louise Montgomery, daughter of the hostess, who is noted for her culinary artistry, had prepared the Dixie menu featuring fried chicken and hot biscuits.

Afternoon hours were spent discussing chapter affairs and planning for the opening meeting of the year on Thursday at which time Mrs. Rebecca Pope will present a paper on Admiral Byrd. Mrs. J. W. Taylor, 418 West Santa Clara avenue, will be hostess.

Since it was decided at the time of organization a year ago, that each member would serve as head of this smaller body in the order in which she had held office in the chapter, Mrs. Victor Montgomery, first president, was succeeded by Mrs. M. E. Head. Mrs. Lillian Pritchett was reelected secretary. The invitation list included Mesdames M. E. Head, L. A. Mayfield, Lillian Pritchett, Ray B. Stedman, Rebecca Pope, C. E. Price, T. L. Clem of Los Angeles, B. E. Harver and Miss Gertrude Montgomery.

College Patrons Give Formal Tea To Launch New Season

Discussing ways and means to raise money for the establishment of an emergency loan fund for needy students, members of the Junior College Patrons' association opened their winter program Friday with an informal tea at the home of Mrs. C. C. Blanchard, 1108 French street.

D. K. Hammond, director of the college, and Calvin Flint, dean of men, were appointed to assist the association president, Mrs. Neal Beisel, in considering the various possibilities. These included plans for carrying out the announced theme for the year, "Merchandising and Consumer Education" by means of study groups, as well as for a series of social events.

Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Humeston, the former a member of the High school faculty, presented a group of songs in Spanish and English, with Mrs. Humeston at the piano.

Mrs. B. B. Walbridge and Mrs. W. W. Tantiinger presided at the tea table, which was arranged with punchbowl, glassware and tapers accenting the blue motif of the Blanchard dining room. Bowls of pale yellow roses from the garden added to the decorative effect, while throughout the rooms were an abundance of other garden flowers.

Among the guests were Mrs. Robert Northcross, dean of women, Mesdames Neal Beisel, Walter Fine, Walter Dunlap, Frank Wheeler, Vincent Humeston, Director D. K. Hammond and Calvin Flint.

Private Duty Section Begins Activities For Fall

Opening their activities for the fall season, members of Private Duty section, California State Nurses association district 16, met Friday night in the home of the Misses Helen Anderson and Etienne Isabella, 208 South Sycamore street.

Miss Anderson, chairman of the group, introduced the speaker, W. P. Meyer, who lectured and answered questions on new drugs and their uses.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses. Their guests included Mesdames Loretta Keller, Ruth Caldwell, Theresa Harmon, Mabel Bennett and Helen Nelson, the Misses Harriett Ayres, Gladys Neff, Hildred Holland, Lucille Leigh, Lena Neumeyer, Lydia Neumeyer, Betty Swanson, Theresa Haughness, Mary Gall, Grace Johnston, Santa Ana; Mesdames Ruth Fitch and Ann Lockart and Miss Leona Wunderlich, Anaheim; Mesdames Charlesanna Carroll and Nan Keegan, Anaheim; Mrs. Edith Maupin, Fullerton.

Departure for Chicago Preceded by Party

Preceding her departure for her home in Chicago, Ill., after a visit here, Miss Gladys Hale was complimented at a farewell party given recently in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hale, 1816 South Van Ness avenue.

Dancing and other diversions occupied the group during the evening. Refreshments were served.

Present in addition to Miss Hale were Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Hale, the hosts, and Messrs. and Mesdames John Shroder, Byron Shroder, Clyde Hale and son, Larry; Harvey Lawson, Adams Hanson, Jess Herring, Henry Ross, Miss Mabel Lawson, Sam Ross, Philip Ross, Arthur Lawson and Everett Hale.

JIFFY JUMPER IS MOST VERSATILE FROCK IN JUNIOR'S SCHOOL WARDROBE

PATTERN 2387

By ANNE ADAMS

Busy mothers with school-going wardrobes to plan this Fall, will welcome the practical jumper frock with from one to nine lives—depending on the number of blouses it boasts. Very serviceable in one of the new wool-like cottons, or in a warm jersey or plaid wool, it slips the lead in a jiffy, and has wide, athletic armholes. Curving front and back panels end in wide pleats. Make a blouse with short sleeves for school, one with longer puffed sleeves for the afternoon party, and don't forget that several little ribbon bows are a colorful but inexpensive touch and may be changed even oftener than the blouse.

Pattern 2387 is available in sizes 6, 8, 10, 12 and 14. Size 10 takes 11-1/2 yards 34 inch fabric and 11-1/8 yards 36 inch contrasting for blouse. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Party Guests Informed Of October Wedding Date Selected

Entertaining at cards late last week in her home, 525 East Pine street, Mrs. John E. Hunt made it the occasion for announcing to guests, the approaching wedding of her daughter, Miss Doris Hunt, to Lee Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hamilton of this city.

Decorations in yellow and white added to the charm of the home, and included quantities of little pompon dahlias in artistic arrangement. Miss Hunt completed her pretty frock with a corsage cluster of Tailsman roses, the gift of Miss Viva Fickes.

Preceding the introduction of whoopee as the evening's amusing game, Miss Kristine Nielson gave a series of clever readings, the card game prizes tied with yellow and white ribbons, were awarded Miss Mary O'Connell and Miss Frances Philbrook, holders of high and low scores.

When guests were invited to the adjoining dining room, they found a table attractively spread with lace and centered with a yellow and white decorated baskets filled with cellophane bags of sweetmeats. As guests opened their individual candy sacks, they found small cards inscribed with the important message, "Lee and Doris; October 6."

There were many interested questions and comments as the young people enjoyed the dainty dessert course served by Mrs. Hunt with the assistance of Miss Fickes.

Mrs. Hunt and Miss Hunt received as their guests, many members of Sigma Beta Phi sorority of which Miss Hunt is president. The list included Mesdames Minnie Tucker, Dorothy Cook, Kemble Pratt, Clifford Hamilton, George Lighthall, the Misses Mary O'Connell, Karla Nielson, Kristine Nielson, Frances Philbrook, Claire Goeman and Viva Fickes.

Young Business Women Hold Conference For Leaders

Forums on leadership and club benefits headed the program for the annual weekend conference which leaders of young business women's groups of the Southland held at Mar Casa on Balboa Island, Miss Mary W. Howard, W. C. A. secretary, Miss Rowena Newcomb and Miss Maurine Dalton, president and secretary of the local Wrycende Maedezu club, were present from Santa Ana.

Fifty club workers attended the conference, which opened Saturday evening with a dinner. Dr. Bessie McClenahan of the University of Southern California Sociology department, conducted a discussion group on "Why we have groups, how they are formed, and the types of leadership that exist." She defined leadership as "a process of influencing people to reaffirm their beliefs, to change old beliefs, or to form new ones." She pointed out that each member of a woman's organization should find out the place of women in the modern world.

Dr. McClenahan's Sunday morning discussion was on "Developing Leadership." "Why should my life be beaten like brass, or shaped like enamel into a small conventional design?" was quoted as a helpful philosophy.

Other discussion groups Sunday were conducted by Faye Hoople of Los Angeles, Miss Dorothy Snyder of Boston and Mrs. Cliff Potter.

Announcement was made that the midwinter conference of young business women will be held early in 1936 in San Diego.

The program tea which on Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock will dedicate the new studio home at 425 West First street, of a group of Santa Ana artist-teachers, will feature readings, vocal and instrumental music according to plans announced today.

Associated as hostesses will be Holly Lash Visel of the Visel studios, and Carolyn Haughton who also will have her studio in the building, together with Joy Leitch and Yula Moore, of the dance department, June Arnold of the expression department, and Dorothy Mayhew of the music department of Visel studios.

Lyric String Trio, composed of the Misses Audrey Granis, violinist; Anna May Archer, cellist, and Beatrice Granis, pianist, will give an open musicale tomorrow evening at 8:15 in Ebell lounge. Cleo Smith, tenor, who has taken several leading roles in junior college productions, will be assisting artist. Evening Wedding Has Setting in Melrose Abbey Choosing Melrose Abbey as setting for their wedding last night, Miss Claire Codman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Codman, Anaheim, and Dr. Arthur E. Alne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alne, Astoria, Ore., exchanged vows at a ceremony witnessed by 140 guests.

The couple left for San Diego to attend the exposition, and will then continue north to establish their home in Astoria, where Dr. Alne is a practicing physician.

Eight o'clock was the hour for the rites at which the Rev. E. C. Harker, pastor of Anaheim White Temple Methodist church, officiated. Pauline Graef Rhoades was the organ, playing "All for You" (Brown), "Nocturne Amoureux" (Frime) and "Believe Me if All Those Endearing Young Charms" (Moore). Miss Trine Swensen, Portland, Ore., sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." Lohengrin's Wedding March was played as a processional.

Setting

Coral gladioluses and blue delphiniums decorated the foyer. An aisle lighted by tapers led to the altar, where palms and ferns provided a background for massed white larkspurs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory satin gown with a veil. Her bouquet was a cascade of lilies of the valley, bride's roses and orchids. Miss Eleanor Parnell, maid of honor, wore shell pink chiffon, and carried pink rosebuds and yellow pompon chrysanthemums. Other attendants were Miss Thelma MacKinnon in apricot chiffon, and Mrs. Robert Silas Quinn (Maytie Stilwell) in blue chiffon, wearing small gold hats and carrying yellow pompon chrysanthemums and African daisies.

The bridegroom's brother, Ernest Alne, of Portland, was best man. Ushers were Dr. Wayne Raige and Dr. Robert S. Quinn, former University of Oregon classmates of Dr. Alne.

Reception

The wedding was followed by a reception in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Codman, on the 101 Highway. The bride cut an elaborately decorated wedding cake.

For traveling, the new Mrs. Alne wore a navy blue sports costume with matching accessories. She has been a member of the nursing staff at Orange County hospital for some time.

Guests at the reception included Miss Ione Howan, Frank Stricker, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford T. Haskell, Corona, Mrs. Estelle Dobner, Mrs. Edwin Schultz and son, Harold Schultz, Mrs. Nancy Clark, Mr. and Mrs. George Foltz, Mr. and Mrs. John Parnell, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sweetland, Miss Claire Garrett, Miss Eleanor Sweetland, Ernestine Erwin, Mrs. S. Lawrence Walbridge is Wedded to Charming Hollywood Girl

Many relatives and close family friends from this community were among the 75 guests assembled Saturday afternoon in the Rexford Bellamy home, 1919 Canyon Drive, Hollywood, for the marriage of Miss Carolyn Bellamy, daughter of the home, and Lawrence Walbridge of Pasadena, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron B. Walbridge, 2222 North Main street, Santa Ana.

It was an unusually charming ceremony, details of which had been planned by the bride's brother, Ralph Bellamy, well known motion picture star, and Mrs. Ralph Bellamy, as a special courtesy to their sister. All flower decorations were in bridal white, and snowy candelabra, held countless waxen tapers, since the entire ceremony was conducted by candlelight.

Simplicity of Rites

Miss Bellamy, in filmy white chiffon, wore a chaplet of white gardenias, but carried no flowers. She was attended by Mrs. Hugh Hipple of Pasadena, as matron of honor. Mrs. Hipple wore a formal afternoon frock of flat crepe in one of the new shades of blue, and a corsage cluster of yellow rosebuds. Richard Sloan of Glendale assisted Mr. Walbridge as best man.

The bride wore an ivory satin gown with a veil. Her bouquet was a cascade of lilies of the valley, bride's roses and orchids. Miss Eleanor Parnell, maid of honor, wore shell pink chiffon, and carried pink rosebuds and yellow pompon chrysanthemums. Other attendants were Miss Thelma MacKinnon in apricot chiffon, and Mrs. Robert Silas Quinn (Maytie Stilwell) in blue chiffon, wearing small gold hats and carrying yellow pompon chrysanthemums and African daisies.

WAR AND PEACE DISCUSSED BY REV. MCAULAY

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—"This is a crazy world, when we talk peace and prepare for war at the same time," said Dr. R. B. McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, discussing the Ethiopia situation in his sermon last night.

"At Versailles we said we were tired of war, but we have built larger navies, drilled more men and spent more on military equipment than ever before," the pastor said. "As Christian nations we violate the teachings of the Christ, who advocated peace, good will and arbitration."

Dr. McAulay discussed the apparent cause of the impending war and various theories as to its real cause. He outlined briefly the importance of the situation to other nations than those actually involved because of its effect on trade, on bordering territories and on a possible attempt of Hitler to invade Austria. He said further that war in Ethiopia is apt to result in a race war throughout Africa.

In relating the history of the threatened country, Dr. McAulay pointed out that Ethiopia, an independent nation since 1100 B. C., is claimed to be the first to become Christian. In closing he said that if the little country would refuse to fight, but would also refuse to pay taxes or work for Italy, the invaders' purpose would be defeated and Christianity would bear the victory.

UNION DIRECTORS NAMED TOMORROW

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Directors are to be appointed at a meeting of the W. C. T. U. tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. at the First Presbyterian church in the west parlor. Other business to be transacted will be the election of delegates to the county convention to be held September 19 and 20.

New officers are to be in their places for the first time and Mrs. Minnie Neville will begin her eighth year as head of the organization. Delegates to the state convention are to be selected later. The convocation will be held at Riverside the latter part of October.

SPEEDERS GET TICKETS

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Charged with speeding in a 25 mile zone, E. W. Danielson and Robert Waller, both of Orange rural districts, and Raymond Potter, of 416 South Glassell street, were arrested Saturday. Danielson was also cited for not stopping at the boulevard stop on the corner of North Main street and West Chapman avenue.

Methodist Church Plans Two Study Periods Sept. 11

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Two periods of study on the question of "Liberty," will be presented at the First Methodist church Wednesday night by the pastor, the Rev. Arthur T. Hodson. Young people of high school and college age are to meet at 7 p. m. and an older group is to meet at 7:45.

The study will be based on the book of Galatians and the topic will include a discussion of personal and Christian freedom.

GRADE SCHOOLS OF BUENA PARK OPEN TUESDAY

BUENA PARK, Sept. 9.—Both the Grand avenue and Lindbergh schools are to open tomorrow at 8:40 a. m. with a full day session planned.

All kindergarten pupils will attend the Grand avenue school, with morning sessions scheduled. For the older pupils, Manchester boulevard has been set as the boundary line with those on the north side attending the Lindbergh school at which six grades will be held this year.

Reconstruction work has been done at both schools during the summer including the securing of additional playground space for the Lindbergh building.

Lindbergh teachers will be Miss Mabel Looney, principal and first and second grade; Miss Maxine Harris, second and third grade; Miss Irma Weise, fourth and fifth grade, and Mrs. Martha Landell, fifth and sixth grades.

Grand avenue faculty members with their grade assignments are Rolland Upton, principal and district superintendent; Miss Edith Stewart, who will assume the place occupied by Miss Louise Albright, kindergarten and upper grade music; Miss Lurline Trundy, first; Mrs. Georgiana Boyd, second; Mrs. Lora K. Archer, third; Miss Georgina Baker, fourth; Miss Jean Travers, fifth; Miss Kathryn Smith, sixth; Homer Kreps, seventh and manual training and boys' physical education; Miss Elizabeth Berkey, seventh and home economics; Mrs. Mabel Loomis, eighth, and Miss Katherine Magnuson, eighth and girls' physical education.

REEREDOS OF BREA CHURCH DEDICATED

BREA, Sept. 9.—Dedication of the new reeredos in the chapel of the Congregational church was an impressive feature of the Sunday morning service. The pastor, the Rev. D. F. Gaylord, took for the text a part of First Corinthians 1:17, "lest the cross of Christ be made of none effect."

In preaching on the topic of "Crosses—Ornamental and Otherwise," the reeredos is the handwork of Karl Kiolstad, teacher of sloyd at the Brea grammar school. He was assisted in part by T. E. Moore and J. H. Robinson.

Following the summer vacation, junior sermons by the pastor were resumed on Sunday morning. Meetings of the Junior league and of the League of Youth are to be resumed this month, the first on September 15 and the last on September 22. It was announced by Rev. Mr. Gaylord.

A meeting of teachers of the church school is to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight, preparations to be made for the church and school rally Sunday, October 6. Fellowship dinner, potluck, is to be held Wednesday night with a social evening to follow during which pictures will be shown. On Thursday night a meeting of the advisory board of the church is to be held in the guild room.

BRIDE-ELECT IS HONOREE AT SHOWER AFFAIR

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Mrs. James Winget and Miss Azalia Bebermeyer entertained Saturday with a kitchen shower for Miss Catherine Hull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hull, whose wedding to Francis Hall, of Santa Ana, will be an event of September 14. The afternoon was spent in hemming towels for the bride-to-be and a number of contests were arranged, with prizes going to Mrs. Frank Bell and Mrs. Robert Paulus.

Miss Hull was presented with numerous articles for her kitchen. Gifts were hidden about the house and yard and clues were furnished the honor guest in her search by means of notes. Garden flowers were used in decorating and refreshments were served on trays at the close of the afternoon.

Those sharing the pleasant event other than the hostesses, Mrs. Winget and Miss Bebermeyer, and the honor guest, Miss Hull, were Mrs. R. M. Buckles, Miss Ethel Park, Miss Ellen Saffern, Mrs. H. O. Englehart, Mrs. R. W. Hull, Mrs. Frank Bell, Mrs. H. M. Elliott, Mrs. Harry Nuffer, Mrs. Margaret Peers, Mrs. A. Haven Smith, Mrs. Robert Paulus and Dr. Florence Brown.

BREA SCHOOLS TO OPEN ON TUESDAY

BREA, Sept. 9.—Brea elementary schools will open tomorrow with no change in the faculty except that Miss EdDoris Wood, who last year was absent to attend university, returns to take charge of the kindergarten.

W. E. Fanning, district superintendent, is assisted at the Brea grammar school by V. E. Jaster and at the Laurel school by Miss Dorothy Voorhies, as principals. The misses Mamie Ward, Cecile Templeman, Jean Paulsen, Kathryn Yates and Edith Maxson, with William Phillips and Karl Kiolstad complete the faculty at the Brea grammar school.

Miss Annes Torier and Miss Ethel Eastham, formerly with the Brea grammar school, will now be at the Laurel school, where Miss Tozer will teach fifth grade and Miss Eastham fifth and overflow of the sixth grade.

Other teachers at the Laurel school will be Ruth Merrill, Ruth Garner, Elinor Elder, Dorothy Boyce and Horace Chansler. Lola Lewis will teach third grade in Laurel school and art at both the schools, while Irene Preble will serve both schools and the high school as nurse.

FREE DEMONSTRATION

You have a fine opportunity to see an example of the cooking results obtainable on these modern ranges by attending the free all-gas cooking school.

Every cooking problem which may confront the average woman in her own kitchen will be discussed. Questions from the floor are welcome.

Come and bring your friends. There are no charges of any kind.

Modern women have the assurance based on years of experience that their natural gas service will not "go out," while they are in the midst of cooking a meal—or at any other time.

When they set the heat regulator on the oven of these gas ranges they know that exactly the amount of heat they ask for will be forthcoming—automatically.

The same assurance is theirs in regard to the clock on these modern ranges which starts and stops the cooking—exactly to their order—even though they may be miles away.

Naturally—more than 2,000,000 California women prefer to cook with gas!

THE TINYMITES

The Tinymites all laughed in glee, because it was a sight to see Wee Goldy racing 'cross the ground as fast as she could go.

The fat old pig, amid loud squeals, kept at the frightened youngster's heels. "Why is she scared?" wee Duncy said. "That's what I'd like to know."

"I wouldn't let that pig chase me. He's just as fat as he can be, and one punch in the tummy, I am sure, would make him stop."

"Oh, don't do that," a cowboy said. "Just try and capture him, instead. Why hurt the best in any way, when you can make him flop?"

"Oh, you want me to tackle him," said Duncy. "O. K. I'm in trim. In just about a minute we'll both sprawl upon the ground."

"I played a game of football, once. At tackling I am not a dunce. It won't be long till Goldy'll know that she is safe and sound."

The next thing that the Tinymites knew, right through the air wee Duncy flew. The pig, however, was too smart. It jumped aside just right.

Poor Duncy rolled upon the ground and then sat up and looked around. He saw the Tinymites laughing. As the pig raced out of sight.

"Course Goldy stopped right in her track, and said, 'I hope he would come back.' And then she thanked wee Duncy for the kind thing he had done."

"I planned a tackle," Duncy said, "but scared the pig away, instead. I'm glad I had a chance to save you. It was lots of fun."

Just then two horses raced right by, and wee Duncy shouted, "Me, oh my, wee Coppy and wee Windy sure can ride. Just see them go."

Then Coppy yelled, "This is a race. That's why we're setting such a pace. Which one of us is best at riding, you will shortly know."

(Coppy's horse does a high jump in the next story.)

TALBERT

TALBERT, Sept. 9.—A new studio residence is going up on the Emil Lerrivain dairy ranch, the dwelling to belong to Mr. and Mrs. Julienne Lerrivain, whose marriage was a recent event.

The Japanese school at Talbert, which has an enrollment of over 100 pupils, opens Saturday and is again to be under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Sakaguchi and Mr. Inoue, who for several years have taught in the school.

Mrs. A. Bland had as her guest Sunday, a niece, Mrs. Hutchinson. Mrs. Betty Carter and her grandchildren, Betty and Billy Carter, of Long Beach, spent a week in the S. E. Talbert home.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gleiser and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gleiser and family and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gleiser and family were among local people who attended the celebration at Huntington Beach Monday.

Mrs. Anna Helm is entertaining as her house guest, her sister, Mrs. May Spencer, of Los Angeles.

Talbert Boy Scouts are spending the last of their vacation meetings on fishing trips and Wednesday went to Newport and San Clemente. Scoutmaster Hollis Fitz and son and Tatsuya Kato, Mitsuo Chizawa, Louis Betschart, Lloyd and Floyd Wardlow, Kiyoshi Yoshida, C. Oda of the Scouts and Ir. Sawyer and Jimmie McDaniel of the Cubs made the trip.

LOCAL P.-T. A. TO BEGIN NEW RADIO SERIES

The Santa Ana Council Parents-Teachers association will begin this season's series of broadcasts from KREG this evening at 5:45 o'clock and present two well known Orange county women in brief but interesting addresses.

Mrs. John J. Mills, president of the Santa Ana Council, and Mrs. W. T. Klrven, president of the Fourth District P.-T. A. which includes most of Orange county, will discuss plans for the coming season and the membership drive to be launched immediately.

Lorene Graves, radio and music chairman, who will be in charge of the broadcasts to be made every Monday at the same hour, will announce and conduct them.

FINAL ADDRESS BY KELLOGG IN SERIES

The final broadcast in the series of four being made by the American Legion "Minute Men" of Santa Ana Post 131, will be made by George Kellogg, prominent Legionnaire tonight from KREG at 7:15.

"Parliamentary Practice Simplified According to American Democracy" is the topic of tonight's address and it will be explained how the practice may be applied to any organization regardless of size.

Kellogg is president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange county, a prominent Legionnaire of the state and has received many complimentary comments from listeners to previous broadcasts made by him on "Communism."

An airmail and passenger service has been established between Moscow and Prague.

Christian Science Lecture Radiocast

An authorized Christian Science lecture will be broadcast at 8 o'clock tonight when Peter B. Higgins, C. S. B., of Seattle, Wash., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., lectures over KFOK (1250kc-240m), for First Church of Christ, Scientist, Long Beach.

NOVELTY PROGRAM BY 'ACME' TONIGHT

A novelty program will be presented by the T. S. Hunter Oil company tonight at 6:45 on KREG, with piano-accordion and piano specialties.

The presentation will feature the music of Johnnie Sylvester, piano-accordionist, playing "By the Waters of the Minnetonka," set to popular rhythm, and "Mighty Lak a Rose," and the piano duet novelties "Nola" and "Narcissus" as played by Muriel Pollock and Vee Lawnhurst.

The T. S. Hunter "Acme" programs are scheduled every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same hour and offer a variety of popular music.

"BLACK VENGEANCE" ON KREG TONIGHT

Taking listeners into the bustle and confusion of cotton-picking camps in the hot, sultry San Joaquin valley, tonight's "Calling All Cars" dramatization will tell a story of "Black Vengeance" dealing with one of the most brutal murders in the annals of the Fresno Police department.

"Black Vengeance" has been built by Author-Producer Bill Robson around the bloody axe-murder of one Matt Johnston, a hard-working negro-resident of Fresno.

PIANO-LESSON PROGRAMS TO BEGIN TONIGHT

Beginning a new series of three weekly programs, "Little" Eddie Barnes, one of radio's pioneer entertainers will present the first piano-lesson broadcast this evening at 4:30 from KREG.

Eddie states that he guarantees to teach anyone to play the piano if they can whistle a tune; furthermore there will be no books to buy nor is it necessary to have a knowledge of music. The programs will be in the nature of demonstrations and will show how simple it is for one to be able to entertain one's self and others when a few, simple rules are followed by a little, easy practice.

Eddie's piano-lesson programs will be scheduled every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same hour, in addition to his all request prize programs Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:15 p. m.

ENTERTAINMENT IN 'MUSICAL MOMENTS'

Litling rhythm, snappy tempo and favorite ballads will comprise tonight's presentation of "Musical Moments with Tommy McLaughlin" on KREG at 7 o'clock.

The program schedules the popular young baritone to sing the old favorite: "Dear Old Girl" and the more recent hit song from "The Big Broadcast": "Why Dream?" Victor Arden's popular orchestra will furnish plenty of reasons for dancing with the late tunes "What's the Reason" and "Restless."

These high fidelity, highly entertaining programs, sponsored by the Chevrolet Motor company, are featured on KREG every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the same hour.

HOW BIG IS GOD? CHURCH IS RESPONSIBLE FOR DWINDLING DEITY, SAYS REV. A. E. KELLY

Calling the church mildly to task for its possible failure in depicting or defending the bigness of God, the Rev. Albert E. Kelly, of the United Presbyterian church, newly elected head of the Santa Ana Ministerial Union, spoke from his pulpit yesterday on the theme, "How Big Is God?"

The scripture basis for the sermon was Daniel 3:17, "Our God whom we serve is able," and 6:22, "My God hath shut the lions' mouths that they have not hurt me." He said in part:

"How big is your God? As big as the God of the three Hebrews who were cast into the fiery furnace; as big as the God of Daniel? The question we are pressing is timely. Halford Luccock, keen critic and courageous and discriminating appraiser of spiritual conditions of our day, finds it necessary to write a 'dwindling God'—the God of the modern life that to all intents and purposes has reduced the size of God; that far too many are thus thinking of Him, and in their consequent acting He is dwindling. The attribute of omnipotence becomes out of touch with the 'greatly powerful' of omnipotence to 'nearness or juxtaposition.' The characterizations, such as infinite, eternal and unchangeable, become less by far than what they are at face value, and become a sort of relative description of an attenuated deity."

"It is quite possible that the church has helped to make Him dwindle in the conception of our day. One would think that the church would be the last agency on earth to share in the doing of such a thing. But the church, while praying 'Hallowed be Thy name' has not always done her full duty in inculcating and practicing a reverence and honor for all whereby God maketh Himself known. The church has not always treated with reverence and honor the place of worship; the house of worship and prayer; the church has not always dealt with this Book of God in an honoring and reverent fashion; the church has not always sought to hallow the Sabbath Day and to keep it protected from unholy and irreverent hands; the church has not always been eager to do the will of God, and such remission of duty has served to reduce the size of the church's God in the minds of many."

"The church has not been speaking with clear imperative tone. 'Thus saith the Lord,' as in the day of Amos or as down along the centuries. It seems that we but seldom hear the church in this day of many voices crying out their cure-alls, denouncing this and that, and bidding for the espousal of this cause and that."

"There are wrongs in our social order, the whole list of sins found in the messages of Amos, Isaiah, or Paul, and the church appears strangely quiet about it all. The stilling of the church's prophetic voice serves to make men think of God as little."

"The neglect of God serves the same end. We are fully aware that our state supported schools cannot teach religion. But when the fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, when a knowledge of God and a sense of responsibility to Him are the very indispensable foundations of morality."

"Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon yesterday at the Santa Ana First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The lesson-sermon included these verses from the second epistle of Peter, "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord, according to His divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him that hath called us to glory and virtue; whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises; that by these"

FLIES CAN BITE

No matter how much a fly may annoy you, it can never bite you. Flies are incapable of biting. The mouth of a fly is a sucking organ through which the insect extends its tongue. The tongue has rough, rasp-like areas on it and with these the fly rubs the area on which it is feeding. This rasping is the annoying sensation commonly known as the bite of a fly.

Sarah Bernhardt, famous actress who died 12 years ago at the ripe old age of 78 years, was told by her physicians that she had but three years to live when she was only 17. Throughout her life she was the victim of ill that endangered her life.

When an admirer asked her to name the gift she wanted most, she replied that a coffin would be the most appropriate thing—inasmuch as doctors kept telling her she was about to die. The admirer took her at her word, the coffin was made according to her specifications, and delivered to her.

From then on, Bernhardt's coffin was her constant companion. She took it wherever she went, posed for photographs and sketches in it. She kept it in her room at the foot of her bed—she even slept in it at times and once held a mock funeral. The Bernhardt coffin became famous.

Miss Bernhardt did not die within the three years. She recovered from her girlhood illness, only to fall in health again in 1874 at the age of 26. This time she was given five years to live. In 1894 her life was again despaired of, and in 1915 she was told that odds against her recovery were 1,000 to one. All in all, she was expected to die 17 times. She lived to be 78—and when she died she was buried in her famous coffin.

ALLEY OOP

JESUS IS ONLY STABLE ONE. IS PASTOR'S WORD

"In the midst of financial depression, political and social corruption, religious indifference, wars and troubles of all kinds, it is encouraging and comforting to know that there is something that is secure and stable, and can be depended upon—that is Christ and His Kingdom," declared the Rev. Ellsworth A. Archer, in his sermon yesterday at the Free Methodist church.

His topic, "What Shall Be the Next World Empire?" was based upon the text from Daniel 2:44.

"Christ and His Kingdom are so secure that nothing can make them move. In Isaiah 26, we read, 'Behold, I lay in Zion for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner stone, a sure foundation: that he believeth shall not make haste.'"

"In the past, nations and empires have fallen. There have been four great world empires, namely, the Babylonian, the Medo-Persian, the Grecian and the Roman. Since the Roman empire has never been a world empire."

"We now stand where we can trace history no further. We can go no further until other events shall have transpired. We do not know what lies in the future concerning the nations exercising all their powers to penetrate it. Some are saying one nation will obtain power, and some say another. One man's opinion is probably as good as another's."

"But there is to be a universal kingdom, and it is to stand forever. That, according to the Bible, is when Christ shall set up His Kingdom."

"It does not make so much difference what takes place in the history of the world, or what does not take place. The question which overshadows all others and makes them sink into insignificance is: 'Are we right with God and prepared for His Kingdom?'"

Another Church Adopts Unified Worship Service

First Congregational church will adopt the plan of unified service of worship and education beginning Sunday, September 29, it was announced today by the Rev. F. F. Schrock, following a business meeting yesterday in connection with morning worship. The time for the unified services will be determined later.

Beginning a two weeks' vacation today, the Rev. Mr. Schrock announced speakers who will deliver the sermons at morning services for the next two Sundays. Calvin C. Flint, dean of men at Santa Ana Junior college, will be speaker on September 29; Dr. Arthur B. Patton of Claremont, September 30. Unified worship is now being observed here by the First Christian and First Methodist churches.

Mrs. A. I. Mellenthin and daughter, Betty, of 2340 Park boulevard, who just returned from a summer at their Lake Arrowhead home, are leaving this week to take an apartment at Westwood where Miss Betty will be a freshman at U.C.L.A. With them will be a classmate, Miss Mary Elizabeth Price of Monrovia.

Mrs. W. W. Kays, 528 West Santa Clara avenue, has returned from several days spent in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. John Swanke, 219 Buffalo street, left during the week end for a ten days' vacation at Lake Arrowhead where they will stay in the Harry S. Harlow cabin.

C. C. Blanchard, 1108 French street, and his daughter, Mrs. Lyman Whitehead of Culver City, are traveling in New England, where they will visit in Boston, Providence and Springfield and other cities. They will return in about two weeks.

Miss Roberta Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Horton of South Lyon street, left by train Saturday for University of Arizona where she will enroll as a freshman.

ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust."

Among the passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy were the statements: "The real world brings objects and thought into human view in their true light, and presents them as beautiful and immortal, Harmony in man is as real and immortal as in music. Discord is unreal and mortal."

THE ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF SENATOR LONG

Whatever one's opinion of Senator Huey Long and his political style may be, there is no defense for assassination.

The use of the gun in eliminating human beings is evidence, to that extent, of the destruction of ordered society.

In spite of what has happened in Louisiana in granting the ascendancy of Long, we haven't yet evolved any better method of determining political expediency than the counting of the votes.

To be sure, it has seemed sometimes that democracy is hopeless, when a man of Mr. Long's type receives the vast majority in support of his political program. We can only conclude, with our serious disagreement with him, that the people of his state badly need education.

But you cannot educate the people by assassination. The assault upon Senator Long's life, by the murderer who would lie in wait, doesn't injure Senator Long, or the cause which is personified in him, as much as it does those who have become impatient with the ordinary processes and would appeal to the gun.

Long lies today in a hospital as a hero and a martyr. The assassin and would-be murderer lies cold in death.

The incident is illustrative of the wrong method of meeting a political opponent. Senator Long has been ruthless, he has been relentless and he rules apparently with a "rod of iron." But he has had his will enacted into law by legal methods.

The man who committed this crime is a man with fine reputation and personal history in marked and favorable contrast to that of Huey Long.

He was apparently stirred by his emotions of regard for his father-in-law, whom he feared would lose his position as judge due to Long's opposition. He had undoubtedly been fortified in his determination, by the opposition which he saw among his friends and the extremely hostile words that were said concerning the usurping Senator.

All these threw his mind out of balance and he crept into his lair, waiting for his victim as a wild animal. It is unusual for an assassin to be so promptly dealt with. This is true because it is unusual for public men to go about with a bodyguard.

John Wilkes Booth escaped at the time he shot Lincoln. So did Guiteau when he shot Garfield and he lived to be executed. The same was true of Czolgosz, the assassin of McKinley.

As we recall the words of McKinley were: "Don't hurt him." But Long's bodyguard perforated the assassin with bullets. Long was expecting it. He had done things that made him expect it. And some will attempt to excuse this act by that fact.

But we are supposed to advance in civilization just in proportion as we permit the human attributes of thought and reason and judgment to take the place of the animal instincts of fury, force and kill.

It is well to remember, in criticizing men in public life, particularly in national positions, that extremely vituperative exaggeration may arouse some person, whose veneer of culture is very thin, to commit a deed.

When Czolgosz was captured, there was found upon his person a clipping from a Hearst newspaper. For Hearst had been in the same business, then, of assaulting the reputation of McKinley that he is now of assaulting President Roosevelt.

We recall later that President Theodore Roosevelt sent a representative to a great gathering in New York and authorized him to place the death of McKinley really on the doorstep of Mr. Hearst.

We would like to call the attention of Theodore Roosevelt, jr., the former president's son, that he is not far now from being a party with Mr. Hearst in arousing fierce animosity. He is doing this by charging the President with practical disloyalty to our institutions of democracy simply because he does not agree with him. Differ and criticize; it is an American right and democracy's need. But let us discuss the issues that are raised and not so much the men who raise them.

SOUTHLAND KEEPS ON GROWING

Probably the best evidence that this Southland of ours keeps right on growing is the record of building permits issued in various cities. Once again Southern California is the fastest growing area on the Pacific Coast and Los Angeles is pointing the way.

Los Angeles has issued building permits, for the eight months of this year, to the total of $21,202,000 or two and a half times greater in amount than San Francisco, 10 times more in amount than Portland, 20 times those of Sacramento and 12 times more in amount than Seattle. All these cities remember when Los Angeles was just a village and they were cities.

Santa Ana is second, for cities of its size, with a total of building permits that exceeds $750,000 for the past eight months, being paced by San Pedro with $808,000 and followed by San Bernardino with $442,805, Riverside with $516,375, Santa Barbara with $397,110, Compton with $604,970 and Pomona with $264,801.

Equally pleasant reading is the growth of the Orange County coast line, with Seal Beach lagging behind the parade. Laguna Beach reports a building total of $308,000; Newport Beach, $360,000; Huntington Beach, $62,000 and Seal Beach, $8,000.

Anaheim reports a building total of $112,000 for the year to date and Orange $40,000.

About two and a half times more building is being done this year than last year. Los Angeles reports a total of $7,250,000 spent in the construction of new single and double residences, with an additional expenditure for apartment buildings.

The climate, general living conditions, not to mention the lower cost of living, are such that if this Southland of ours could only find employment for the hundreds of thousands who would like to live here, these building permits would be very small indeed.

Undoubtedly there are but few cities in the entire United States that are growing as fast and as continuously as are the cities 'round about us.

ADMISSION DAY AND THE VALUES OF THE FEDERAL UNION

California is one of the few states of the Union which makes a legal holiday of the anniversary of the day it was admitted to the union.

This is a fine indication of the spirit of the Californians. It illustrates the value which they placed upon their relationship to the federal union of the United States in 1849, 1850 and 1851.

With the vicissitudes through which California had passed, as a part of the Spanish empire and of Mexico, with the many cross currents of interest, contests and unstable government, it is no wonder that the Californians were happy. When admitted to the Union, they realized they were under the protecting power of the United States.

It made property valuable; it insured a strong government and it gave system to their money. It was a great day of rejoicing when the news came that she was actually admitted.

And California has always been loyal. With many people here from the South; with a portion of the state lying far south of the Mason and Dixon line; with large plantations or haciendas similar, in their economic structure, to that of the plantation system of the South, yet California adhered to the Union cause during the war between the states and she has never wavered from that day to this.

Sometimes it seems that in our broad domain, the varied interests conflict in a manner that makes it difficult to have a singleness of purpose. Yet with all that, California realizes that she gains more with the free trade relationships of the great expanse of territory and knows that her democratic government is secure under our federal constitution.

She knows that there is no power on either side of the Pacific that can annex her, so as to become part of a different political system.

It is well for us to think of the strength and the values that come through our American Union. It helps us to enjoy that which the Stars and Stripes typify.

FEDERAL TRUCK CONTROL

The signing of the Bus and Truck bill by the President marks another step in the coordination of transportation facilities.

Buses and trucks are now placed under the supervision of the Interstate Commerce commission. Before they can operate they must secure certificates of "convenience and necessity," and are subject to regulations as to both rates and the routes they travel.

A recent survey shows, however, that insofar as 11 Western states are concerned, the matter of truck regulation is largely a state matter, and the largest portion of it is private business.

Out of every 100 trucks checked, only one was engaged in interstate business, four were engaged in intrastate business, and 95 were privately operated by manufacturers and producers.

It is clear, of course, that neither state nor federal commerce regulation would apply to the private carrier and the hope of the railroads for some sort of protection from the inroads of the trucks in the freight traffic must come from another direction.

The great size of our Western states makes many matters the subject of state regulations which, in the smaller Eastern states, would be matters of federal regulation. But insofar as this measure tends to equalize the competition between trucks, buses and the railroads, it is desirable from many points of view.

Courage and Cowardice

Christian Science Monitor

The undaunted faith of a California community was the subject of an editorial in these columns about two years ago. Immediately following an earthquake a Pasadena newspaper contained the advertisement of a local bank. It solicited no business, submitted no figures. To a quotation from the Bible it added the words of Abraham Lincoln:

With firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us finish the work we are in, to bind up the nation's wounds.

A few days ago the cowardice of some of its members brought another California community into the headlines. An Associated Press dispatch informed the world that 200 citizens of Santa Rosa tarred, feathered and beat five persons alleged to be Communists. This courageous exploit was capped by compelling the victims to walk through the town, followed by automobile loads of "yelling and jeering" occupants honking horns. A nation hides, or should hide, its head at this and similar un-American scenes recently enacted in other states.

There is no lynch law in the United States. There is lynch lawlessness. Morally, if not legally, members of lynch mobs who lend themselves to such hysteria and brutality have forfeited their heritage of Americanism. In a White House proclamation on July 26, 1918, President Wilson declared:

I say plainly that every American who takes part in the action of a mob or gives it any sort of countenance is no true son of this great democracy, but its betrayer.

The laws of America are adequate to reach the lawbreaker. Their application is too often blocked by judicial red tape, political bosses and crooked lawyers. Not one of these obstacles endures but through the apathy of the voters. The lack of initiative and intelligent action to solve these problems, however, can never be compensated for by mob violence, which is always chiefly a miserable compound of ignorance, hysteria and primitive passions let loose.

Lynch outrages in widely separated parts of the United States prove their cause not to be racial or sectional. The ugly head of lynch crime has raised itself in too many states. But shall it be for a moment admitted that cowardice may ride roughshod over law? That is unthinkable—and untrue.

WHY TRY?

(On reading a scientific article which says that the average man uses only a quarter of his brain.)

A lot of time I'm losing,
I toil and moil in vain,
For I am only using
A fourth part of my brain.
When it has done that much for me
Its power fades away;
Inert and futile it will be
Until another day.
To force it further is no use
The darned thing simply won't produce.

On phosphorous I feed it
Before I go to bed,
I'm told that people need it
To stimulate the head.
But still three-quarters of my mind
Won't act the way it ought,
Since early childhood they've declined
To think a single thought.
How can I hope by bread to win
When that condition I am in?

I used to long for glory
And power and acclaim;
I thought that song and story
Might breathe about my name.
But if my mind won't operate
The way that organ should
I might as well accept my fate,
I'm well—I'm just no good.
No man success will ever gain
With just one quarter of a brain.

HOW DID THAT HAPPEN?

President Roosevelt suggests coining quarter cents. It's surprising that the Scotch didn't think of that long ago.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

LIBERTY AND DISCIPLINE

It is very rare, Guglielmo Ferrero once said, that an epoch has a precise idea of what it is doing.

I wonder if we, in this epoch, know what we are doing?

As I read the pre-campaign pronouncements of this and that leader in this and that camp, my wonder grows.

Some six months before the 1929 collapse of economic America, Ferrero wrote a penetrating essay on Modern Unrest which I should like to commend to all the competing voices now being raised in this opening phase of the 1936 political debate.

The essence of Ferrero's argument was this: Humanity is caught in the grip of an inward struggle between the principle of liberty and the necessity for discipline. From the nineteenth century on we have been swept forward by new and powerful impulses and initiatives. We have been the children of an expansive explosive age. But the nineteenth century has a great many principles of moral, intellectual and political discipline which, although at times they were in sturdy conflict with the new urges and initiatives of modern progress, operated as a brake. The tremendous effort that marked the nineteenth century was, after all, a measured and regulated effort. And this was because the conflict between the new impulses and the old restraints, between the new liberty and the old discipline, resulted in an equilibrium.

For some time now we have been out of balance. Most of the brakes which the nineteenth century inherited from the ages before the French Revolution have been worn out or broken. The World War robbed us of most of the brakes that were left.

And so everywhere peoples are instinctively fumbling to find a new equilibrium, a new balance between the principle of liberty and the need for discipline. Even if every people on earth makes a mistake in the formula it adopts, the quest for a new adjustment between the claims of liberty and the claims of discipline is a necessary quest. For a civilization cannot be all impetus and no discipline. That means anarchy. Nor can a civilization be all discipline and no impetus. That means tyranny and futility.

Down under all its mistakes, which I think have been many, the New Deal is America's current attempt to establish a new correlation between liberty and discipline.

If in this attempt New Dealers err in forgetting the claims of liberty in the clamor for discipline, the opposition cannot serve us by saying there is no need for the attempt. There is. And the opposition America needs just now is an opposition that will advance a sounder basis for relating the principle of liberty to the need for discipline.

BABIES AND CROWDS

The best place for a baby is at home. He needs to be kept quiet for the greater part of the day. He needs to sleep. He cannot stand the pressure of too many people about him. He needs clean air at an even temperature. He needs to stay home. This stands for all children up to the age of three or thereabout.

Street cars and buses are not good for little children. The movement is out of the question. Any place that exposes the infant to crowds and noise and jostling is a bad place for him.

The little ones are susceptible to contagion and infection. A crowd is just the place for these to flourish at their worst. Somebody sneezes and the neighborhood gets whooping cough, measles and whatnot. Colds seem to pass with lightning like speed through a crowd, and children are the first victims.

It is dangerous to expose infants to contagious diseases. There are still a few people who think that children naturally have these diseases and nothing can be done about it. That is not true. A great deal can be done about it and ought to be done. First the children should be guarded against exposure by being kept at home. If there is contagious disease in the neighborhood the other children should be allowed no visiting privileges. Quarantine you would if there were diseases within it. Prevent illness by timely quarantine.

Don't allow visitors to kiss the little ones. If fond friends feel hurt about it you can't help it. Explain as gently as you can, the reason for your precaution, and if they have a grain of sense they will agree readily.

All guests are not alike in their influences on children. There are some who over-stimulate the little ones, set them to laughing, or jumping about, or crying. Some make the children afraid. Either they talk too loud, are too alert, too powerful in their domination, or they are dead dull and make the child so uneasy that he breaks into tears or tantrums. Children ought not to be left to the mercy of adults even those who love them and want to do them good. The greatest kindness that most people can bestow upon little children is the kindness that makes them see that children need to be let alone. It is not necessary to do something for the children every minute of the time. They want simple and few. They need food, rest, fresh air, play, and the normal companionship found in the wisely ordered home. Not such a hard problem when attacked by common sense.

There are always emergencies. Always the question of what is to be done with the baby while this or that serious situation is cleared away. It may be necessary to take the baby for a long journey, to carry him into crowds, to expose him to noise and fatigue and the pressure of unaccustomed surroundings. Then you do the best you can to help him avoid the dangers. Get him back to his home as soon as you can.

Home is the best place for a baby, because it is quiet, clean, not crowded. It is not sterilized, it is not walled against life, but it is the safest place you can find for your baby.

Here and There

Attempts of the British government to popularize flying have resulted in development of an airplane selling for $1375.

An Irish air line hopes to inaugurate transatlantic air mail service next year between Galway and Newfoundland. Under ordinary conditions, flying time between these points is expected to be 8 hours and 35 minutes.

A rocket-like airplane, driven by blast nozzles, is declared by its French designer to make possible speeds of 600 miles or more an hour.

Pilot balloon stations have been established by the U. S. Weather Bureau at 71 locations, mostly at airports, where periodic observations are taken of direction and velocity of the winds aloft at all flying levels.

The material division, Army Air Corps, announces that no more of the famous "Liberty" engines, widely used by Allied forces during the World War, are to be repaired or overhauled for re-use in army aircraft.

Forecasts for airways are drawn up by 10 weather bureau forecast centers at Newark, Cleveland, Atlanta, Chicago, Kansas City, Dallas, Salt Lake City, Portland, Oakland and Burbank, and transmitted over the communications network.

Due to the large increase in air-mail, twice-a-week plane service between England and Australia is contemplated. One trip weekly is made now.
